Twenty-two Americans Are Reported Among Those Aboard Plane

(BULLETIN)

CAIRO, August 31.—(INS)—Fifty-five persons, including 22 Americans and an Indian Maharajah, apparently were killed today when a Trans-World Constellation bound from Bombay to New York crashed and burned in the Egyptian desert 55 miles northwest of Cairo.

Two United Nations representatives from India, presumably en route to the General Assembly which convenes in New York Sept. 19, also were on the airliner.

CAIRO, Aug. 31.—All 55 occupants of a Bombay-to-New York Trans-World Airlines Constellation — including 16 Americans—were believed killed early today when the big four-engined plane crashed and burned in the Egyptian desert 55 miles northwest of Cairo.

The plane fell near the little mudhut village of Atay Barrud.

Company officials said there apparently were no survivors among the 48 passengers and seven members of the crew. Five crew members were Americans. The other two were French.

Wreckage Sighted

Wreckage of the big four-engined Constellation was sighted southwest of Tanta, 53 miles north of Cairo, after an early morning search for the plane which had

JOHNSON DEFENDS SELF AND SECRETARY ACHESON

Seek To Speed Final Action On Controls Bill

Conferees Hope To Get Measure To White House Soon

By GLENN M. GREEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A senate-house conference committee resumes efforts today to start the economics controls bill to the White House before Saturday.

In spite of lagging progress on the remaining points at issue between the two houses, the conferees said the delay does not imperil the bill's chances in either chamber.

Senate Banking Chairman Maybank (D) S. C., said the conferees have agreed to finish their work by noon. A parliamentary requirement would hold the bill up in the house until Friday.

The senate could act on the measure immediately after house approval.

Since the bill now carries a predominant amount of house language, little opposition to the conference result is expected there.

But, although senate conferees are pledged to support the results, other senators might refuse to go along on the conference report. That could precipitate a talkathon that might postpone action beyond teh coming week-end.

Heaviest Air Bombing Raid Made In Korea

More Than 90 B-29 Superforts Drop 800 Tons Of Bombs

(BULLETIN)

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—(INS)—An armada of more than 90 B-29 Superforts today showered 800 tons of high explosives on military targets in the heaviest bombing yet made on the North Korean homeland.

Industrial installations at Chinnampo, 20 miles southwest of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang, were plastered with 600 tons of bombs.

An additional 200 tons were dropped on North Korean bridges and other communications targets in attacks which the Far East Air Forces Headquarters described as "devastating."

The heaviest punch by the Superforts in a single day was the 850-ton smash by 99 B-29s in a tactical ground support operation a few weeks ago. That blow, below the 38th parallel, was delivered against enemy concentrations along the Naktong river's west bank just opposite Waegwan, near Taegu.

Rain Bombs

For more than an hour and a half today the Superforts rained their bombs on a chemical plant,

U. S. Tank Led Forces Smash Ahead 3 Miles

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Sept. 1.—(Friday)—Communist forces were smashed back nearly three miles on the Pohang front Thursday by a combined American-South Korean counter-attack spearheaded by mighty Pershing tanks.

The rout of the Red troops became a near massacre as U. S. Marine Corsair fighter planes caught the fleeing invaders in a bowl-like valley and killed an estimated 250 when they sought cover in a cemetery.

May Have Ended Threat

The Communist defeat may have ended the threat to Pohang and its important airfield six miles to the southeast.

The terrific counter-blow, launched when American troops joined the South Koreans, wiped out a V-shaped salient pointed directly at Pohang.

It enabled the United Nations defenders to straighten their line from a point just below Kigye due east to the sea. Kigye is eight miles northwest of Pohang.

The 43-ton American tanks, equipped with 90 millimeter guns, led the Americans and South Koreans and sent the Red invaders tumbling from choice high ground positions just north of Pohang.

The counter-attack kept rolling as the Red troops fled into the valley trap where the Marine fighter planes struck them with fire bombs.

A dispatch from Eighth Army Headquarters placed the gain of the hard-hitting United Nations forces at 5,000 yards.

Some Captures Made

Some enemy soldiers were captured, the dispatch said, along with boxes of Russian-made communications equipment still stencilled with Russian labels showing it was packed in August, 1948.

The Reds were thrown back after two desperate twin drives they had mounted against Pohang were halted.

The North Koreans clambered over bodies of many hundreds of their own dead in their unsuccessful attempt to storm into the port city. They gained more than a mile before they were stopped.

The road junction to Kigye remained in enemy hands Thursday night.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's 11 a. m. Friday communique (11 a. m. EDT, Thursday), dealt with action prior to the rout of the enemy above Pohang.

He told of a withdrawal by the Reds approximately 1,500 yards north and east of the city. This apparently was in the opening phase of the counter-attack.

Nearly seven miles northwest of Kigye, other Red forces gained more than a mile a southward smash designed to cut Pohang's overland communications with Taegu, 44 miles to the west-southwest.

Northwest of Taegu, meanwhile, a surprise Communist attack on the right (east) flank of the U. S. First Cavalry Division overran an American machine gun position

Rail Strikers In Canada Are Back At Work

OTTAWA, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Canada's striking rail emlpoyes returned to work today under a government mandate to end their paralyzing 10-day-old nationwide walkout.

The first trains to move in the dominion since Aug. 22 pulled out of their yards shortly after midnight over rust-coated tracks. They were freights.

Order Men Back

The heads of the 17 striking unions ordered the 125,000 workers back to their jobs 19 minutes after a hastily-called parliament passed a bill directing an end to the work stoppage.

The legislation ordered the two carriers—Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways—to give their employes a four-cents-an-hour pay boost.

It also directed union and management representatives to resume their negotiations and provided that a government arbitrator be appointed to settle the dispute if no agreement is reached in 30 days.

Thousands Were Idled

The unions seek a reduction of the 48-hour work week to 40 hours with no loss in pay plus a seven-cents-an-hour increease.

They also are asking that employes of steamship lines and ho-

Action Is Near On Arms Aid For W. Europe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Senate armed services committee acts today on the demands of Secretary of State Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson for an immediate four billion dollar expansion of arms aid to western Europe.

The senators heard the two secretaries and Marshall plan chief Paul Hoffman behind closed doors late yesterday in a stormy three-hour session during which Johnson and Acheson defended U. S. unpreparedness in the Korean war.

Acheson and Sen. Wherry (R) Nab,. reportedly clashed over the rearming of western Germany after the secretary, it was stated, termed the senator's language careless.

In another row, Sen. Knowland (R) Calif., and chairman McKellar (D) Tenn., exchanged words. Some of the shouting and pounding on the committee table could be heard outside the locked doors of the hearing room.

Johnson and Acheson gave the senators prepared statements, emphasizing that the Korean invasion has made the threat of Communist aggression elsewhere "unmistakably clear".

Air Parcel Post Rates To Increase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Postmaster General Donaldson moved today to put air parcel post on a pay-as-you-go basis by moderately increasing rates throughout the United States.

Donaldson published an almost completely revised rate schedule, effective Nov. 1, calling for increases varying from five to 44 cents a pound on parcels sent by air mail.

Defense Secretary Johnson Makes Reply To His Critics

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Defense Secretary Johnson turned on his critics in a lengthy reply today to congressional charges that he has "lost the confidence of the American people".

Johnson denied that he has been guilty of "brash statements on military strength", "false enonomy" or "pinch-penny methods", and said he does not believe that his remaining in the cabinet is "embarrassing" to the president.

The charges were made by Rep. Tauriello (D) N. Y., in a letter addressed to Johnson over the weekend.

Resignation Urged

Johnson's defense came almost simultaneously with a resolution calling for his resignation passed overwhelmingly by the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Chicago.

The resolve said:

"Our boys (are) dying in Korea while inadequately trained in spite of assurances by defense department officials of our preparedness."

It continued:

"We go on record as condemn-

Acheson Asks More Funds For U. S. Voice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson went before the Senate Appropriations committee again today to urge swift approval of increased funds for the Voice of America.

The secretary, who spent three hours with Defense Secretary Johnson in an angry committee session yesterday, was unexpectedly recalled to "justify" the Voice request.

The State department is asking $62,655,850 for all information activities, plus $15,212,000 in counterpart funds from Marshall Plan countries. Of this total, the Voice of America seeks $7,602,000 for broadcasting and $41,288,000 for new facilities.

Acheson spent only a few minutes in today's closed session, without extended questioning.

Then will come the speeches and the leave-taking and the official passing over the reins of the city to Council President Vincent R. Impellitteri, who will be acting mayor until December 31.

Malik's Reign Over Security Council Ends

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 31—Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik bows out today as president of the UN Security Council after 31 days of anti-U.S. propaganda and parliamentary maneuvers which stymied efforts to condemn the North Korean Communists for their attack on South Korea.

The burly Russian will surrender the gavel to Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb at midnight in accordance with the monthly system of rotating chairmanships. Malik is in for a dose of his own medicine. Jebb has promised to restore order in the council and put the Soviet representative in his place.

As a parting gesture—and in awareness of Jebb's intention to put the council back on its feet—Malik has padded this afternoon's council agenda with inflammatory propaganda items frankly aimed at smearing the United States before the world as a violator of peace and an aggressor.

In addition to the question of Formosa, which Malik brought before the council at the request of the Chinese Communists, the Russian also has introduced the Peiping charges of alleged violations of Chinese territory by the U. S. Air Force, and alleged terrorism in Greece.

New Company Buys Plant Here

Sale Of Chemical Plant On Sampson Street Announced

Sale of its zinc ore roasting facilities at its plant on Sampson street, by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, of Wilmington, Del., to the New Castle Chemical Company, of Pittsburgh, was revealed today in a joint announcement from the two companies.

The information was made public by Works Manager Harry J. Carney, who succeeded H. C. Hadsell, as manager at the local plant effective August 1, following the retirement of Mr. Hadsell.

Under the terms of the sale, the New Castle Chemical company will take over operation of the facilities here as of September 1, 1950. The sale of this plant by du Pont results from that company's desire to minimize its investment in facilities not related directly to its main interest in manufacturing chemicals and chemical intermediates for industrial and consumer purposes.

The New Castle Chemical Company has stated that it does not contemplate any personnel changes at the local plant, and plans to operate the newly acquired unit very much as it has been operated in the past.

Three Communist Leaders Arrested At Pittsburgh Today

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31—(INS)—Three Western Pennsylvania Communist leaders were held in Allegheny county jail today to await a hearing on charges they violated a 1939 State Sedition act.

Common Pleas Court Judge Michael A. Musmanno, who has been campaigning for lieutenant governor on the Democratic party ticket, filed the charges. Previously Musmanno asked Attorney General J. Howard McGrath to arrest Steve Nelson, Andy Onda and Jim Dolsen and eight other Communists.

Today City Detectives arrested Nelson, Onda and Dolsen within a two-hour period in raids on their Pittsburgh homes.

Nelson is chairman of the Western Pennsylvania Communist party and previously had been linked to a House un-American Activities Committee investigation of spy rings. Onda has served as an organizer among steelworkers and Dolsen is correspondent for the Daily Worker, a Communist newspaper which is published in New York.

First Hurricane Of 1950 Strikes Gulf Coast Area

MOBILE, Ala., August 31.—(INS)—The waning tropical hurricane moved into north Alabama today with 50-mile-an-hour winds and gale-rains knocking out communication lines and electric power facilities.

Service on at least one railroad was disrupted between Mobile and New Orleans because of storm damage and attendant high tides.

No complete estimate of storm damage in the areas has been attempted.

MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 31—The first hurricane to strike the mainland in the 1950 season knifed into shore between Mobile and Pensacola, Fla., today on 115-mile-an-hour winds and then abruptly lost much of its force.

The storm flirted with the entire resort-rich Gulf coast area before veering eastward to miss New Orleans, the Mississippi coastline and Mobile.

The center of what was left of the hurricane was located 70 miles southwest of Birmingham, Ala., at 3:30 a.m. (CST). Remnants of the storm were attended by heavy rainfall which was expected to spread to northern Alabama and Mississippi later today.

Hurricane warnings were pulled down but southwest storm warnings were posted east of Mobile to Panama City, Fla. Squalls and East Washington street between Butler avenue and the city line will no doubt be one of the city's busiest thoroughfares during the coming holiday week end. The street will bear traffic from routes 422 and 88, due to the Butler road detour. Pre-holiday traffic was evidently in effect Thursday evening as traffic was one constant line east and west in the vicinity of Arlington avenue.

SEEK TO SPEED FINAL ACTION ON CONTROLS BILL

decided to give him more sweeping authority than he requested, but wrangling over the specific powers and the methods have held the bill's progress to a crawling pace.

The conferees settled one of these differences late yesterday when they granted the president authority to settle labor disputes in defense plants by setting up a war labor board as in World War II, if necessary.

Earlier, they skirted a fundamental rift on how to apply wage and price controls with a compromise allowing the president to enact them just about as he pleases.

But they did write in a reuqirement making wage ceilings mandatory in any industry where the president applies price curbs.

Differences Remaining

According to Maybank, these are the remaining chief differences to be settled:

1. A senate amendment requiring "a reasonable margin of profit" for meat and livestock products if controls are applied to these commodities.

2. The creation of a single OPA-type agency to handle the program if the president imposes over-all brakes on the economy.

3. The manner of taking care of "hardship" cases arising out of controls application.

These are senate provisions which the house conferees have not yet accepted. The senate conferees made a major concession in accepting the price-wage compromise.

DEFENSE SECRETARY JOHNSON MAKES REPLY TO HIS CRITICS

ing those disastrous and capricious policies and precedures of the department of defense which have brought our nation's defenses to their present shameful and inadequate condition in the face of the present threat of communist world-wide aggression."

Defense Released

Johnsons 3,500-word reply, bringing the fight to remove him into the open, was released late Wednesday at the defense department.

The secretary wrote:

"I want to assure you that, in my opinion, I should not be secretary of defense today if, in fact, my continuance in office were—as you put it—'embarrassing to the chief executive.'

"I believe that the president is fully capable of speaking for himself, with respect to what he considers 'embarrassing'... and would therefore suggest that any further inquiries with respect to this should be addressed to the president."

The charge of "brash statements" concerned chiefly Johnson's claim that if an enemy attacked the U. S. would be ready to retaliate within an hour. Johnson said this had no application to the Korean war, and added:

No Apologies

"I have no apologies to make for my statements...I had reference, of course, to our ability to launch a strategic (atomic) air strike.

"This ability and our enormous industrial potential are in my opinion the two great factors which have thus far prevented an attack upon us.

"Indeed, our very ability to do the thing which I have mentioned ...may be the reason why we are faced today in Korea with local aggressions instead of being faced with bombing raids on American cities."

In denying charges of false or shortsighted economy, Johnson said that the army was increased 538,000 to 630,000 men and the air force from 368,000 to 416,000 men during the two years since the fall of Czechoslovakia in 1948.

casion, it was stated at a meeting of the Veterans Council Wednesday evening.

Prepare Program

Work has begun on setting up a full evening of entertainment with food, soft drinks, dancing and a musical program. Committees have been appointed to secure the necessary funds to make the evening one long remembered by the men, their wives and sweethearts. To give an idea as to the volume of food that will be necessary, it has been estimated that over 200 loaves of bread will be needed to make sandwiches and 100 or more pounds of potatoes for potato salad.

Auxiliaries of the service organizations have been asked to help prepare and serve the food. Civic and service organizations will be asked today for their cooperation and financial help to show New Castle's gratitude to the men of our armed forces, the men who will leave to protect our rights and heritages.

Since it will take the combined efforts of everyone in New Castle to make the event a success, every donation of food or money will be sincerely appreciated. The men on whose shoulders falls majority of the work and worry are: Manning Weller, phone 2039; Edward DeCarbo, phone 5195-R, and Joseph Brown, phone 4942-M. disappeared last evening on the Cairo-Rome leg of its flight.

The ship apparently went down less than 30 minutes after taking off from Farouk Field.

The airliner left for Rome at 7:35 p. m. (EDT) Wednesday and last checked in by radio at 7:57 p. m. It was due in the Italian capital at 1:30 p. m. (EDT) today.

A widespread search was started for the airliner after it was reported overdue and the first inkling of its fate was flashed to Cairo after the wreckage was spotted near railroad tracks southwest of Tanta.

(TWA's Paris office listed the American crew members as Capt. Walter B. Webb, First Officer Haldon Hammett, Navigator Harley Hackett, Flight Engineer Melvin House and Radio Officer Herbert G. Stiles. TWA said the other two crew members—Purser Jose Bernard and Hostess Jeanie Lorenzi—were French.

The plane was the "Star of Maryland" and was listed as Flight No. 903.

FIRST HURRICANE OF 1950 STRIKES GULF COAST AREA

gale-like winds reached out 100 miles along the extreme northwest Florida coast and the New Orleans weather bureau advised small craft to use caution in those waters for the next 12 to 18 hours.

In Path of Howler

Flomaton, Ala., and Molino, Fla., directly in the path of the dying howler, reported some telephone lines and trees down before they were knocked out of telephonic communication with Mobile early today.

Weather forecasters at Mobile said Evergreen, Ala., was in the path of the storm as it moved into south central Alabama. At 2:30 A.M. (CST), Evergreen reported winds of 35 miles an hour with gusts up to 45 mph.

By that hour, the winds had died to 23 mph at Fort Morgan, Ala., the first mainland point hit by the hurricane.

Sea-faring residents of the coastal strip were well battened down in preparation for the same winds that reportedly killed 31 persons when it lashed Cuba on its swing up out of the Gulf of Mexico.

Second Storm Spotted

(Meanwhile, a second hurricane was spotted in the same area where the coast-lashing storm was formed. The San Juan weather bureau said the second howler, with winds of more than 75 miles an hour, was 210 miles east of Martinique at 11:30 p.m. (EST). The storm was growing in intensity as it moved westward at 14 miles an hour).

New Orleans weathermen said the "eye" of the first storm struck at Fort Morgan, Ala., almost due south of Mobile and the wind velocity was estimated at 115 miles an hour.

But residents of the historic fort town said the strongest winds felt were 75 miles an hour. Foley, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., also reported highest wind velocities at 75 mph.

Foley and Pensacola were without lights and at Foley only emergency telephone service remained in operation.

HONG KONG, Aug. 31—(INS)—Chinese newspapers in Hong Kong said today that the Chinese Communist Fourth Army is now in North Korea.

HEAVIEST AIR BOMBING RAID MADE IN KOREA

a magnesium-aluminum plant, a smelting plant and rail and storage yard at Chinnampo.

Returning Superfort crews reported excellent results and said the weather was so clear they made their bombing runs visually.

The most important target hit at Chinnampo was the magnesium-aluminum plant, situated about a mile and a quarter west of Chinnampo.

This plant, consisting of sixty-buildings, was rated as one of the two most important nonferrous metals plants in North Korea. It produced well in excess of 6,000 tons of aluminum annually, 1,000 tons of magnesium and about 100,000 tons of pig iron.

Far East Air Forces Headquarters emphasized that utmost precautions were taken not to bomb civilian areas of Chinnampo. The latter was one of the North Korean cities warned by leaflets August 18 to evacuate military areas.

1,200 Troops Killed

An earlier FEAF communique announced that 1,200 North Korean troops were killed by aerial rockets, bombing and strafing in two days of action near embattled Pohang.

Air Force Headquarters said more than 500 Red troops were killed and many injured in rocket and machinegun attacks Wednesday east of Kigye.

The air force communique reported that ground troops advancing in the sector west of Kigye found 700 North Korean foot soldiers killed by air assaults the previous day.

Headquarters added that similar low level strikes were made in all sectors of the battlefront but that no estimates of casualties could be given.

The round the clock aerial onslaught was disclosed meanwhile to have knocked out all regular bridges across the Han river at Seoul.

These bridges, just south of the fallen South Korean capital, formed a funnel through which the majority of Communist supplies from North Korea passed to the battlefront.

U. S. TANK LED FORCES SMASH AHEAD 3 MILES

northeast of Waegwan at 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

Drives Reds Back

But First Cavalry troops counter-attacked three hours later and drove back a unit of 500 Red soldiers who had captured high ground in the area.

Four miles north-northeast of Waegwan, which lies on the Naktong river's east bank 12 miles northwest of pivotal Taegu, U. S. artillery and planes blasted an estimated 100 Red troops entrenched on a 1,700-foot-high ridge. First Cavalry Division troops had been repulsed Wednesday night when they stormed the height known as Hill No. 518.

The North Koreans were reported strongly entrenched atop the hill in stone-lined foxholes and caves reminiscent of Japanese defenses during World War II. The Reds had sewn anti-personnel mines around the base of the ridge.

American artillery meantime opened fire on eight Communist tanks reported near Indong on the Naktong's east bank 18 miles northwest of Taegu. Results of this action were not yet known at 9 Thursday night.

Some 17 miles southwest of Taegu, the U. S. Second Division continued to press an attack on the lower flank of the enemy's Hyonpung bridgehead, the only remaining important Red pocket on the Naktong's east side. Here, the Americans advanced more than a mile Wednesday in the vicinity of Changdong.

Small Counter-Attack

Seventeen miles north-northeast of Taegu, South Korea Sirth Division troops began a small-scale counter-attack late Thursday "to adjust their lines" in the vicinity of Hwaeandong, a front dispatch said.

In this area, the North Korean Eighth Division has driven south to a point five miles belong Uihung in an attempt to thrust a wedge between the South Korean Sirth and Eighth Divisions.

The Eighth Division had been pushed back to the neighborhood of Chidong-Ni, less than seven miles northwest of Kigye.

These developments stemmed from Red pressure along the 40-mile northern front between the sector north-northeast of Taegu and the coastal area just above Pohang.

Along Korea's southern seaboard, U. S. 25th Division troops were mopping up on Red groups which had filtered into the American rear to points as close as 28 air miles west of Pusan, chief Allied entry port in Korea.

Air force planes, detecting a movement to augment the Red's southern forces, attacked an enemy pilots claimed to have destroyed column west of the Nam river. The an unspecified number of Red tanks as well as 12 out of 14 enemy trucks.

MARSHALL-CRISCITO EXCHANGE OF VOWS

Ferns, gladioli and lighted candelabra provided an attractive background in St. Vitus church for the ceremony which united the lives of Miss Alma Marshall and James Criscito on Thursday, August 24.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Marshall of 803 South Jefferson street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Criscito of McKeesport, Pa.

The impressive double ring service was performed by Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita at 9 o'clock, with a host of friends and relatives in attendance. Angelo Marshall gave his daughter in marriage.

A charming gown of ivory skinner, princess style, was worn by the attractive bride. The sheer nylon yoke was edged with dainty alcorn lace embroidered with rhinestones. Leg of mutton sleeves enhanced the fitted bodice of the creation. The bouffant skirt, featured with two rows of lace in front, terminated in a cathedral train. A halo crown of rhinestones and silver baguettes held her hand-rolled veil of ivory tulle. She carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book encrusted with three orchids and stephanotis. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the groom.

Miss Judy Rozzi attended her cousin as maid of honor. She wore a mint green colored gown of imported French lace and nylon net. The lace bodice was styled with a low round neckline edged with satin, with cap sleeves as pretty accents. A wide sash tied into a large bow, adding back interest to the full skirt. She carried a lace fan trimmed with pom-pons and an orchid, and wore matching long mitts and picture hat. A rhinestone necklace, gift from the bride, completed the ensemble.

Bridesmaids for the occasion were the Misses Gemma Rauso, Mary Ann Venditto, Justine DeCaprio and Rosemarie Meyer. They were identically attired in gowns of white lace and net over mauve colored satin. Lovely features were their round necklines, cap sleeves and sashes. The attendants wore long mitts and picture hats trimmed with lily of the valley, and she carried lace fans topped with pom-pons and an orchid. Rhinestone necklaces were gifts of the bride.

Anthony DeCarbo served the groom as best man. Ushers included Joe Squalis and Joe Graziani, both of McKeesport; Ralph Gagliordi and Mitchell Charles.

Helen Ruscetti played and sang "Ave Marie", "The Lord's Prayer" and "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother".

A wedding breakfast was served in St. Margaret's hall, with dinner served at 2 o'clock at the same hall. An evening reception for 400 guests was held at the St. Margaret's hall, with dancing to a local orchestra enjoyed.

The bride and groom had a wedding trip to New York, Niagara Falls and Canada. They will reside in McKeesport, where the groom is employed by the McKesport steel mill.

UNDEVELOPED MARKETS

A West African deputy to the consulative Assembly of the Council of Europe, speaking at a recent meeting of the assembly, dangled before that body the prospective market for European goods which would be found in Africa if the standard of living of the African native were raised.

Africa has a population of more than 175 million persons, most of whom live by primitive standards. What a market would be created for all manner of goods and materials if some magic could lift the average African family to a modern house, with furniture and bathroom and gadgets, to possession of an automobile of sorts and a wardrobe scaled to western living. The picture is almost beyond imagination. If such a thing could come to pass, needless to say there would be a market for America as well as for Europe.

There is a potential market of almost comparable size, and perhaps of something nearer to possibility, in the Western Hemisphere. There are more than a hundred million persons in South America and perhaps fifty million in North America south of the United States border. There are numerous highly developed cities and areas in these regions, yet there also are substantial segments of the population living in primitive style.

In both Africa and South America there are many natural resources from which could be drawn the wealth to pay for something like a modern standard of living. How can the cycle be set in motion, how can a primitive people be set on the path of modern living? That is one of the most fascinating and potentially profitable questions of the present age, and one of the most baffling.

SCHOOL DAYS

All good times must come to an end and that includes even a protracted vacation. Reopening of school must be accepted as one of the compelling realities of life. However unwelcome it may be to youngsters, there probably are many grownups who find it more or less of a relief. All parents, however, should be reminded that the reopening of school in no way lessens their responsibility.

Accidents—the chief cause of death among young persons—claim six times as many lives in the 5-to-14 age group as pneumonia. Children going to and returning from school will continue to encounter traffic hazards and are likely to be more impulsive after their long period of freedom. Needless to say, the use of bicycles aggravates such hazards.

Parents, interested in their children's progress at school, should be especially mindful of their safety.

CHALLENGE TO MOTORISTS

This may be harping on an old subject, but too much emphasis cannot be placed on safe driving. With the last long weekend of the season at hand a new challenge is presented motorists.

With 40,000,000 cars on the streets and highways for three days and nights, there is a great danger the death list will equal or surpass the Fourth of July holocaust.

Speed is relative. There are times when it is less hazardous than at others. On an open and uncongested highway, especially in daylight, it is safe to drive faster than in city traffic. But even so prudent driving calls for common sense and good judgement at all times.

The car must be kept in safe operating condition. The person at the wheel must have normal faculties and, above all, be sober. So long as he is handling a motor car going at any speed he msut have consideration for his own life and the lives of others.

Death lurks on every street and highway for those who do not exercise the greatest possible caution.

CONGRESSMEN THINK ONCE ENOUGH

Never again, if the Senate's Democratic leaders can help it, will Congress wrap up in one huge package the money needed to run the federal government for one year.

For seven months, lawmakers have been wrestling with the one-package bill and it still isn't tied up and ready for the White House.

The bill that passed the Senate runs to 482 pages, contains 510 amendments, and appropriates $34,761,932,231. No one has even tried to count the amendments in the 431-page, $29,494,340,164 House bill.

Senate and House conferees are struggling with the gigantic task of trimming here and there and adding odd bits so that the two bills come out the same size.

Eighty-one-year-old Senate Appropriations Chairman Kenneth McKellar (D), Tennessee, says the one-package bill has agrees with Majority Leader Scott Lucas (D), Illinois, that Conbeen the "most terible task" he ever has tackled. McKellar gress should appropriate money in separate bills for each government department.

However, Senate Republicans like the one-package idea. They contend it keeps the country aware of the tremendous cost of running the government. Thus, they argue, it makes wielding the economy ax easier.

There are two sides to all arguments—the big job being to convince the other person that his is the wrong one.

Too often the fellow who thinks he knows all the answers only knows all the answers to the wrong kind of questions.

There is no longer a man who has so much money he doesn't know what to do with it. He knows what he has to do with it now—give it to the tax collectors.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

NEED FOR MANGANESE CITED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—There is one precious metal of which America has an overflowing store. In the vaults at Fort Knox, Kentucky, gold bars are piled rank on rank, probably the greatest treasure in the history of mankind.

But gold is a soft metal. It cannot be used in airplane motors, to line gun barrels or to harden steel. The metals for these purposes are manganese, chrome, vanadium, tungsten. These precious metals are in tragic deficiency in the so-called stock piles ordered to be built up four years ago.

Manganese may well be the most vital of these minerals since it must go into every scrap of steel that is made. In this space recently was a discussion of the difficulties encountered by engineering-promoters seeking to develop domestic sources of manganese ore. Virtually all of America's manganese has been imported from Russia, Africa, Brazil and India.

Reply By Olds

As a result of that column a worried stockholder of the United States Steel Corporation wrote a letter of inquiry to Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board. Mr. Olds has been kind enough to send me a copy of his reply. In it he says:

"Everyone connected with the American steel industry would be delighted to see developed any worthwhile manganese ore deposits in this country, which are capable of being developed in a sound and economic manner. Heretofore, most of the few known manganese ore deposits in the United States have been of such low quality, or of such small tonnage as not to be capable of producing manganese ore in competition with better manganese ore obtainable from abroad.

"I have no personal knowledge about the extent of the stock pile of manganese ore which may have been built up by the government. We have on hand in United States Steel a satisfactory supply for our own immediate use. But, this does not mean that we are not vitally concerned with the maintenance, both by the government and by industry, of an adequate supply of good manganese ore for the future."

In March of 1948, R. M. Lloyd, assistant to the vice president of the U.S. Steel Corporation, testified before a House committee as to the company's position on manganese. Summing up, he said:

"At this time, because of the current high rate of demand for manganese, substantially all available domestic production and importations are required for consumption and, consequently, any large quantity of ore to be used for stock piling necessarily must come from other than present sources. Such supplementary sources, if they could be developed to some extent domestically, would provide stock pile tonnages, and result at the same time in approaching domestic self-sufficiency with regard to manganese in the United States for the long range future."

In other words, there was no available manganese for stock piles. It was all going into the steel being fabricated for automobiles and washing machines. Domestic consumption of steel went to new high levels in the all-out boom this year, so that there would have been even less manganese available than at the time of Lloyd's testimony.

Not Encouraged

New mining and processing developments were not encouraged. They appear in some instances to have been deliberately discouraged.

Alexander C. Barker, then vice president and director of H. A. Brassert & Co., for over 50 years consulting engineers to the iron and steel industry, outlined before a congressional committee a plan to develop an electrolytic process to produce manganese from low grade ores. The company had private capital for the development. They were only asking that stock piling authorities agree to buy a part of the output. They got nowhere, and the project was abandoned.

Other independent promoters and developers, some with a long record of experience, have had the same kind of frustrating response from government. Certain of these independents believe one reason is the pressure of business-as-usual from the big companies that dominate supplies of critical metals. Chairman Olds says this is not true; that in fact "there have been numerous discussions for many months past between men in the steel industry, and representatives in the government, about the need for the development of new or increased supplies of manganese ores from sources other than Russia, especially as there are no known deposits of high grade manganese ore in the United States of any considerable size which do not require beneficiation."

If there were differences between the independents and the big companies over this question in the past, thy should be ended. All sections of the industry must work with the government, which must be stirred out of its lethargy and incompetence to obtain the metal far more precious than gold.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE CHILD WHO IS SHY

The young child who is shy of other children the same age may have a hard ordeal on entering school next fall. Unfortunately some parents have not foreseen this problem and have not during the summer worked on ways to help this child have abundant play, chiefly outdoors, with other children about of his age. Some other parents are quite concerned about this child and his learning to feel comfortable with other children at school.

The mother of a girl, 5½, writes that this child has always been very shy of adults; that when taken with her parents to adult gatherings is, much annoyed at any attention from the adults and won't respond to any of them for half an hour or so; that while she enjoys having one or two playmates come to her home to play, she dislikes to go to their homes; that she greatly dreads to go to parties though she was a happy little hostess at a recent party for her little friends at her home. Before an approaching party at another home, this child reveals many anxieties by the questions she asks, wishes she did not need to go, and devises all sorts of excuses for staying away from the party. Nevertheless, on her return from a party she usually reports having a good time.

Change the Subject

To quote: "When she receives an invitation to a party, she immediately starts worrying from then until the party and really works herself into a 'state.' Even when we change the subject she is soon back to the party. To give you an idea here are some of her remarks: 'I don't see why she invited me, we don't play together very much' or 'well, what if I have to go to the bathroom at her house?' (Usually waits on herself very well) or 'I wonder what games they'll play. I wish they wouldn't play games.' She dislikes going inside of homes to play—when it is planned on first. When going out to play, she will go up to the doors of her playmates and ask if they might come out and will go in to wait while they get their outside garments on but won't go when they call up to see if she will come to play inside for a while.

"This fall she is to start school and as we live 5 short blocks away from the school, this looms up as quite a problem. I expect to walk it with her, of course, for a while."

Self-Consciousness

Writing this mother, I advised about as follows: No doubt you have for years been too insistent that this child shall respond conventionally to your adult friends, thus increasing her selfconsciousness among them. Perhaps it's this discomfort of hers in the presence of adults which causes her to dislike going to her playmate's home and to parties. You can help reduce this problem gradually as you quit nagging her to talk to adult strangers and as you prevail on your adult friends to let her alone and not insist she talk to them.

Shy of Teacher

As her teacher will be an adult she might be shy of the teacher. Find if you could have your child meet her teacher before the first day of school. Anyway, you can build now in this child trust and faith in the teacher and a happy hopeful feeling toward school.

When you walk with that child to school, win several of her classmates to go with you. Help her observe the rules of safety. The sooner she can go to school without you, the better. Her emotional independence of you will make it easier for her to feel comfortable at school.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

(By International News Service)

The man who was going to stay submerged until taxes came down didn't stick it out nearly as long as the woman who is letting her hair grow until a Republican sits in the White House.

She parted friends with her barber in 1932 and she is now combing eight feet of Democratic curls.

She has watched women all around her change their style of hair-do eight times but she's still waiting for the men to change their style of politics just once.

But this fellow who went on the tax dive gave up after 10 weeks . . . something told him taxes were not coming down. It may have been his congressman.

The only way I can see to increase revenues above present plans is put more MacArthur speeches in the congressional record and get it on the news stands.

With a little White House publicity they could get 50 cents for the book without putting holes in the cover.

Baseball's American League is 50 years old this year.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

You are satisfied with the American way of life? Fine . . . but there are some who feel there is a better way . . . So far we haven't heard of a better way . . . and that's why we feel that everyone should be conscious of the many blessings that we have here in the States.

Take this privilege for example . . . you do your own shopping . . . either for your personal use or you are buying an item for your family . . . or perhaps you like to give birthday gifts and this summer there have been many marriages that you liked to remember with a gift. Ok, so you go to a store, any one of our fine stores here in New Castle . . . you buy this item and you take it home . . . But after you have it home you decide that it isn't just what you want . . . or you give the gift to your friend and he or she has one just like it so there is no need to have two of the same thing. What is your first thought in either case? You simply say to yourself, why I'll just take it back to the store where it was purchased and exchange it for something else . . . or perhaps get credit on other marchandise.

Down to the store you go . . . and the exchange or credit is made . . . you are happy and on your way you go, never giving it another thought. Do you know that what you just did was strictly a privilege . . . no law says that any store need make exchanges or return money . . . unless the merchandise was sold under false pretense. Once you buy an item, any item, it's yours. The exchange and credit policy followed by most stores is strictly a privilege and one which can only be found in a free enterprise system such as we have here in the United States.

Yes, so many privileges that we all enjoy every day . . . are taken for granted. We don't realize what it means to live in a free nation . . . but we better awaken to the facts before these privileges are lost . . . and once lost it will take tears, blood shed and hard work to regain them.

This is the United States of America . . . keep the stars and stripes flying high as a beacon light for those living in bondage.

FRANKENSTEIN OF DETROIT

And Now In Paris!

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

PARIS, France, Aug. 31.—To stand still is to stagnate.

Meaning that a fellow must either move forward or he will start growing lily pads on his mental pond.

I don't know who first figured this out, whether it was Heine, Socrates, Jim Jeffries, Montaigne, Jennifer Selznick or John Paul Jones.

But it's true, and I always realize how really true it is when I return to Paris.

For upwards of 25 years I have had a command of French that astounded even Frenchmen. There are not many Americans whose accent is so perfect, and whose use of the idiomatic is so flawless as to cause Frenchmen's eyes to drop.

Not Content

But do you think that I am content with my French? Not one bit. The minute I hit the city (and this was true yesterday) I beat it for a bookshop on the Rue de Rivoli to buy the latest edition of the invaluable booklet entitled "The Englishman in France".

There is always something to be learned from this booklet. There are things in it that even Mr. Churchill, or a channel swimmer, does not know.

With the booklet in my hand I crossed the Rue de Rivoli, leaned against the iron fence guarding the Tuileries, and learned a lot.

I opened the booklet on page 19. At first, nothing new appeared. Such commonplace phrases as "Veuillez me frictionner" (Please rub me), "Je voudrais acheter un souvenir du pays (I wish to buy a souvenir in this country), and "Apportez-moi une eponage" (Bring me a sponge), were all I saw.

Just when I was about to turn to page 20 my eyes lighted on this: "La ceinture de flannelle."

"What l'enfer is this?" I asked.

I read on and learned that "La ceinture de flanelle" means "The cholera belt.'

I jumped. I'll admit it. I jumped almost as far as the Iowa man did when getting his bill for a hamburger at "21" in New York, which, in case you are interested, was a good two feet over the recognized world's record.

A thousand things ran through my mind at once and, my mind being one one-thousandth of the size of B. Baruch's, I don't mind telling you it got pretty crowded.

Thoughts like this:

Cholera is rampant in Paris . . . Plague strikes down middle-aged tourist . . . Jean may have cholera now . . . Is my will in good order? . . . Have I lived a good life? . . . I'm sorry I wondered whether or not to try to change my dollars on the black market . . . Does my head ache or is that imagination?

Head Cleared

Then, like the well-oiled machinery of a meat grinder, my head cleared. Faced with an emergency, I acted just as if I were in an emergency. With studied panic I started hunting for a drug store.

I wanted a size 38 "ceinture de flanelle."

I found a drug store.

I cried for a cholera belt.

I didn't get one, but I learned one thing—where not to look for a cholera belt the next time a cholera epidemic sweeps Paris.

Calm again, I resumed study of "The Englishman in France." Frankly, I never knew before how to tell a shoe salesman that "the soles are too thin." Now, thanks to my booklet, the next time a salesman tries to pawn off thin soles on me I know enough to say "Les semelles sont trop minces, you cheating rascal."

Too, if I am at a cafe and feel an urge for a cooling drink, I know how to say "Une infusion de tilleul." That'll get me "an infusion of life."

And, say, after getting infused with an infusion of lime I feel real hungry and want to tear into a wild boar, page 12 of my booklet has taught me to nod at the waiter (garcon) and yell, "Hey, you, let me have le sanglier."

There is no use in a little learning, friends. One must be willing to devote his life to study. As Pope hinted, lay off the strange spring water unless you have Halazone tablets handy.

SEDATIVE SLEEP

The soothing night comes as a nurse
Devoted watch to keep,
And when she can, gives weary man
The sedative of sleep.

It sets at rest the fretful mind
And eases every pain.
It steals away the cares of day
'Til he must rise again.

It blots out every blunder made
And trivial failures met,
And while he lies with lidded eyes
It sets him free from debt.

Oh, wondrous sedative called sleep
That all may freely share,
And 'til we wake ends every ache
The body has to bear!

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A friend of Herb Caen's was pained to observe that the contents of a fine old bottle of bourbon were shrinking mysteriously from day to day, although he had not touched the bottle himself. Suspecting a new maid, he made a pencil mark on the label at the level of the bottle's contents before leaving for his office the next day. That evening he found a note from the maid on his dressing table. "Please don't put any more pencil marks on the bottle," it pleaded, "because I don't want to put water in such good bourbon."

Joseph Henry Jackson overheard the most priceless line of the season. Two society leaders were lunching at San Francisco's Top of the Mark, discussing Jimmy Roosevelt's gubernatorial ambitions in California. "I heard him on the radio last night," sniffed one of the ladies. "He'll never go far. Sounds just like his father."

GREEN-BITTER-BILE

Did you ever bite a pill of ox bile? My! talk about bitter! Some times the doctor gives his patient a few bile pills to help his liver along.

Drugs are pretty good if used properly.

They are not so good if given hit or miss.

It is better to have a good doctor than to dose yourself.

Good doctors are kind of scarce. It is a difficult and exepnsive job to train a doctor. Medical schools are not built and equipped over night.

Nostrums and quacks have already been with us and always will be.

Inside Washington

MARCH OF EVENTS

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Feverish work is under way on radar screens to guard the United States against a possible "Pearl Harbor" attack by an enemy. The Korean war and the accompanying international crisis pinpointed the need for a "radar fence." It has been given top priority.

Army and Air Force engineers put aside their long-range plans, which contemplated erection of sufficient radar stations to guard all the approaches to the North American continent.

Instead, urged on by the House armed services committee, they are concentrating on guarding key American cities. Those in the northwest are coming in for special attention. However, other major cities that rim the Canadition-United States border and metropolitan centers of the northeast are also of vital concern.

In the place of new radar equipment which has been ordered, but cannot be delivered for some time, the military is pressing into service available World War II material.

Rep. Melvin Price (D), Illinois, an armed services committeeman states that "we do have a radar screen" in being. However, Price termed it an "inadequate screen of World War II character."

LONG-RANGE AIR POWER—The Air Force has decided that there is no reason to change its emphasis on strategic bombing. When the air arm is built up from its present size to 69 groups in the next 30 months, the immediate needs in Korea probably will be only a small factor.

The AF concedes that what is needed on the Korean front is some honest-to-goodness tactical aviation to work hand-in-glove with the soldiers and Marines against the many-heavy drives of the Communist.

However, the service refuses to be pinned down to the exigencies of the moment in charting long-range plans.

The Air Force contends that the planes to be purchased under its $4.3 billion expansion program will not be delivered in from two to five years.

Top air arm officers also contend that so long as the United States has the planes and weapons for quick retailiatory acton, the Communists will think several times before starting a third World War.

CONTROLS—There is no prospect right now that large-scale wartime controls will be imposed on the American economy. Though Mr. Truman seems certain to get standby powers to slap on such restrictions, the full mobilization they imply seems unlikely unless the Korean war spreads.

Most military leaders who have testified before congressional committees have said they believe the conflict will remain localized.

Despite strong talk to the contrary on the part of some congressmen, most legislators would like to keep the country as nearly as possible on a business-as-usual basis at least until after the November elections.

Of course, Russia can upset the applecart. Any decision on the part of the Kremlin to set new fires in Europe or Asia would bring n all-out United States mobilization program, complete with wage and price controls, job freezes, and consumer rationing.

CAPITOL CHUCKLE—Congressman Steven Young of Ohio gets a kick out of telling this story about a colleague:

It seems that Rep. Earl Wagner, a fellow Democrat from the Buckeye state, was weary after a hard day's work and decided to leave it to his waiter in the House restaurant to determine what he should eat.

Wagner told the waiter: "'Just bring me a good meal and a cup of coffee." The waiter served a meal that proved quite satisfactory and Wagner rewarded him with a generous tip.

The waiter beamed, and said: "Thank you, sir, and if you have any other friends who can't read, just send them to Walter 22 and I'll be glad to take care of them."

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

For several weeks now I have been trying my darndest to keep away as much as possible from the subject of WAR.

The front pages are full of war stuff, I said to myself. You hear it on radio, you see it on television, you can't get away from it.

So, I figured, people are fed up on too much war news, war comment, war rumors—on every phase of WAR.

But, unfortunately, this ghost of WAR has become more than a ghost.

It has become part of every American life, and it simply cannot be avoided as a subject of talk and of thought.

Wherever you go these days—to your friend's house, to the grocery store, to the movie, WAR is in everyone's mind.

You must plan your whole life accordingly.

But you CAN'T really plan your life at all at the moment.

All this may sound pessimistic. It is NOT.

Pessimism is a state of mind. Pessimism is a worry, and most worrying is done about things that never happen.

But here is REALITY.

We are not concerned with something that MAY happen. We are faced with something that IS happening.

And when something IS happening, there is only way to cope with it—ACTION.

Neither you nor I may be able to do much in the way of PHYSICAL action—if we could, I wouldn't have time to write this nor would you have time to read it.

So we must confine ourselves to SPIRITUAL action.

God knows, the majority of us have been miserably lacking in spiritual action.

If we had not, we would not be in our present predictament.

We have TALKED a lot about patriotism, but what have we DONE about it?

We have been very proud of our wonderful American citizenship, but too many of us have been too gosh-darn lazy even to go to the voting booths.

We have professed our allegiance to God and His teachings but chased pleasure and material gain.

One of our great national shortcomings is the lack of SELF-ANALYSIS.

We boast, we brag, we show off, we pretend, we pat ourselves on the back and think that we are just about IT.

But we haven't fooled the Russians nor have we fooled knaves in politics who have made fools of us instead.

We have fooled ourselves and have been fooled enough. It's time to face the truth. What I am telling you IS the truth.

My own alarm clock has rung. If yours has not—set it for the earliest possible moment. It's later than you may think.

WASHINGTON—President Truman . . . . "It does not seem to me immediately necessary for Congress to enact universal military training legislation."

CHICAGO—David M. Brown, past national commander of the Disabled American Veterans . . . "We don't have enough beds for the veterans of World War II, let alone the Korean conflict."

WASHINGTON—Agriculture Secretary Brannan . . . "There is not one domestically produced agriculture commodity for which controls are needed at this time."

LAKE SUCCESS—Soviet U.N. Delegate Jacob Malik . . . "The Seventh U. S. Fleet cruises in the Formosa straits, hampering by force the only legal (communist) government of that territory from approaching the island."

Ctiy Mission To Open Fall Work

Plans For Branch Mission Being Made

New Castle City Rescue Mission has been engaged in one of the busiest summer seasons than has been experienced for quite some time, Mission Superintendent Rev. F. D. Marshall reports.

Requests for assistance such as overnight lodging, meals, clothing, and furniture have been many and the majority of the needs have been supplied with the meagre supplies on hand at the Mission building on South Mercer street.

Many Transients

During the past two months, 608 beds have been used by transient men, with 1634 meals provided. Clothing articles numbering 3,122 have been provided to the indigent. The superintendent has handled 61 prayer requests during services where 1,735 attended.

With the fall months approaching, demands upon the Mission will be greater and only as the citizens of New Castle rally around the superintendent and his workers can these calls be taken care of, Rev. Marshall told a reporter. The greatest need is for canned goods to provide nourishing meals for those who lodge overnight at the Mission. Clothing of all descriptions is sorely needed at this time as mothers in some homes with small allowances prepare to send their youngsters back to school.

Services Each Night

Rev. Marshall, who has inaugurated a program of services each night of the week in the mission, is planning further expansion of the mission program he has announced. Plans are being formulated to open a branch mission on the South Side where Gospel services will be held and refreshments will be given to men who attend the services. The need of a bus or other transpotration has arisen to bring the boys and girls into Sunday school. Several trips are made made each Sunday to gather up the boys and girls at present.

The Mission has recently accepted a gift of an American and Christian flag for the auditorium, made possible through the Women's Auxiliary. The Mission facilities are open to public inspection at any time. This is possible in order that the public may become acquainted with the work that is being carried on there.

Rev. Marshall welcomes the opportunity of telling the Mission story in churches of the city and county, as he has done on numerous occasions. He also invites churches of the district to participate in the Gospel services conducted at the Mission.

Farm Roundup

Improvement Seen On Farms

More Diversification Planned On Farms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The agriculture department indicates that small farmers throughout the nation are showing increasing interest in developing their places for more diversification and better production balances.

The department says that during the year ended June 30, almost 2,000 small farmers have obtained farmers home administration loans for improvement of their farms.

Of 3,892 loans made during the past year, the department says about half were for farm improvement programs. The year before, only one third of all farmers home loans were for such programs.

The FHA says that twice as many farmers received loans during the 1950 fiscal year, compared with the 1949 business year.

The loans are made by banks, insurance companies and other private lenders and are insured by the FHA. To obtain this credit a farmer must be able to make a 10 per cent down payment or have that much equity in his farm.

The agriculture department says that farmers currently are getting the highest prices for the things they produce in almost two years—but they also are paying the highest prices in two years for the things they buy.

The department says that prices farmers receive for their products increased about 1.5 per cent from July to August.

During the same period, the prices farmers pay went up one per cent.

Both of these increases are the highest since November, 1948.

New York and Pennsylvania potato growers rejected federal market orders—and thus forfeit price supports on the 1950 crop.

In New Work state—all counties but Nassau, Suffolk, Kings, Queens, New York, Bronx and Richmond—441 potato producers, or 27.2 per cent, of those voting in a referendum favored a marketing order. But 1,181 farmers, or 72.8 per cent opposed.

In Pennsylvania, 293 farmers, or 21.2 per cent, of those voting in a referendum, favored an order, but 1,091, or 78.8 per cent, opposed the proposal.

Flick Of Finger Solves Argument

CLEVELAND. — (INS)—Puzzled lodge members who aren't certain when a motion before the house is adoptable, debatable, amendable or suspendable can now solve their problem with the flick of a finger.

The answer to a committee member's prayer is an invention by Prof. George W. Srail of Fenn College in Cleveland.

Small enough to fit into a woman's handbag, the cardboard Srail Wheel turns dial-fashion and feeds knowledge off an answer sheet.

Club members also know now when to object, or move, or go into a quorum as well as when to convene, recess or go home.

Prof. Srail said he perfected the guide after seven months of research into vast quantities of parliamentary problems.

Predict 435 Will Be Killed Over Labor Day

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The National Safety Council predicted today in Chicago that traffic accidents will kill 435 persons during the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The council said its estimate is based on the "likelihood" of one death every 10 and a-half minutes during the 78-hour period beginning Friday at 6 p. m. and ending midnight Monday.

Close to 36,000,000 vehicles are expected to jam the nation's highway.

The council also announced the July traffic death toll was 3,150, the highest for that month since 1941 and a 13 per cent increase over July, 1949.

The figure brought the seven-month total to 18,320 and the council said if the trend continues, 36,000 persons will be killed in 1950.

Traffic fatalities are now 12 per cent above last year's total.

Making Probe In Luzerne Co.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—A federal grand jury investigating Luzerne county gambling today was tied to a congressional committee checking crime in interstate commerce.

Special U. S. deputy attorney general Max Goldschein, who launched the investigation at Scranton and then turned it over to two assistants, conferred yesterday with U. S. attorney general Gerald Gleason at Philadelphia where a crime probe has been started by a committee headed by Cong. Estes Kefauver (D) Tenn.

The jury is empowered to scrutinize contributions to the Luzerne county Republican machine during the primary campaign and the operation of GI training schools in the area.

The congressman advised newsmen earlier that his committee would scout the hard coal region for evidence of gambling operations.

The 23-member grand jury has quizzed several men known to have been associated with gambling while two state police detectives, H. A. Pecht and Charles Hartman, also appeared before the panel.

Louis Cohen of Mt. Pocono and Miami, branded "the kingpin" by authorities in a Philadelphia lottery combine a decade ago in Philadelphia, is schedule to testify for the third consecutive day.

Where Is The Land O'Goshen

GOSHEN, Ore.—(INS)—There is disagreement over the location of the land of Goshen.

The postoffice serving the small Western Oregon community has been moved, but whether it has been moved to or away from Goshen is in dispute.

Businessmen around the Highway 99-58 junction say the postoffice—which has been moved up on the hill overlooking the intersection—is practically out of town.

The people who live on the hill declare the postoffice is in town now for the first time. They allow they live in the "platted part of Goshen," and that the highway junction really isn't part of the town at all.

The businessmen have petitioned the Postoffice Department to move the postoffice back to the former location on the highway.

The hill residents want the postoffice to remain where it is, and are thinking of a petition asking the businessmen to move into town.

The first building in the United States designed specifically as a theater was built in 1716 at Williamsburg, Va.

New Power Plant Will Be Erected Near Niles, O.

WARREN, O., Aug. 31. — The Ohio-Edison company, which recently acquired the Ohio Public Service company, has announced plans for a new $20,600,000 steam-electric generating plant on a 91-acre site along the Mahoning river adjacent to nearby Niles.

The new unit will be the largest on the Ohio-Edison system which now has 14 power plants capable of producing 1,141,000 kilowatts.

President Walter H. Sammis said ground would be broken about the first of next year. Completion date will be in 1953. The power plant will be able to produce 106,000 kilowatts daily.

U. S. Civilian Airlines Big Aid In Korean Situation

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—United States civilian airlines expect that they will return the planes and crews they have lent to the Korean war airlift to normal duties in a few months.

Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of MATS, said he did not think the civilian transports would be needed after early next year. He said the military can increase air transport somewhat without civilian aid.

Sixty-six four-engined transports chartered from the commercial airlines are now flying the Far Eastern airlift and are carrying about half the 100 tons per day of men and materials being flown to Japan.

Lack Crews

Kuter explained late yesterday that MATS has plenty of four-engined military transports 190 of them assigned to the airlift so far—but lacks the crews to keep them flying.

The general added that 1,100 reserve transport flyers have been ordered to duty to fill the gap, and will become availabble between now and early 1951. He expects to begin releasing civilian planes about Sept. 15.

The deficiency of crews is shown by the fact that the military transports have been averaging less than six hours a day in the air, whereas the civilian transports have averaged considerably better than 12 hours a day.

Can Double Tonnage

Kuter said the military planes already in service can more than double their tonnage when enough crews are available.

In terms of ton miles, the Far Eastern lift already is about half the daily average of more than 800,000 ton miles achieved by the Berlin airlift, but the two efforts are not comparable in many respects.

For instance, Kuter said the greatest present need on the trans-Pacific lift is for skilled navigators, whereas navigators were not needed on the short run to Berlin.

Kuter announced that more than 15,000 men, chiefly troops replacements and skilled technicians, were flown to the Far East during "an early 45-day period" of the Korean war.

55,000 Men Sent

The military sea service previously announced it has transported 40,000 men, bringing to 55,000 the number of Americans who had reached the Far East from the continent by about Aug. 20.

No effort is being made at present to extend the airlift to Korea. Kuter said all of the transports are stopping in Japan, and that fast ships take their cargo from there.

Would Move Some Federal Workers From Washington

By GEORGE MOISE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, August 31.—Congress was asked today to spend $139,800,000 to disperse government activities and make Washington a poor atom bomb target.

President Truman asked the funds to finance a long-range plan to move 35,000 to 40,000 federal workers in key agencies far enough from the capital to be safe in the event of sudden A-bomb attack.

The new federal offices, including emergency space for both the House and the Senate, would be placed in four undetermined sites in Maryland and Virginia, presumably more than 12 miles and less than 50 miles from Washington.

The White House announcement of the dispersal plan said that all of the new sites would be close enough to the capital to enable federal workers to commute to work.

Included in the funds requested is money to improve present highway and communications facilities to the new federal offices.

A secondary effect of the plan would be the unintentional beautification of Washington. The new installations would replace in most instances the unsightly temporary structures now cluttering up the mall—between the Lincoln Memorial and the Capitol—and other park areas.

Clyde Beatty Circus Here On Friday

Kids and grown-ups alike will get a chance to visit the thrill of every life—the circus—when the famed Clyde Beatty Circus opens in New Castle Friday afternoon. The scene of action will be the Cascade street show grounds.

Matinee will begin at 2:30 p. m. with evening show scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Clyde Beatty himself heads the list of headliners with the show, and will again demonstrate the technique that has made him world-famous as a handler of wild animals. In addition, Mrs. Harriet Beatty, wife of the bossman, will thrill New Castle friends with her animal act, involving an elephant and a bengal tiger, always hard to handle. Not only does Mrs. Beatto combine the two animals into an act, but in addition she makes the great cat fight its most feared natural enemy, fire, by jumping through a flaming hoop.

Other acts with the 1950 show include the Great Barton, renowned balance-act man, who balances his own weight on his finger! Then there are the Flying Thrillers, masters of the high trapeze; Frank Doyle and his death-defying aerial act; the Caudillo Sisters, the most outstanding acrobatic act in all Mexico, and the Monzella Troupe, world-champion springboard artists.

Don McLennon, star of western movies, will be on hand with his great western act of cowboys and cowgirls. All this, and 30 clowns, too!

Doors of the circus will open an hour before shows are scheduled to begin; that's 1:30 in the afternoon and 7 at night. The downtown ticket office is at Rands Rexall store.

Silverman To Be Called As Witness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS) A former Pentagon official who was named by Miss Elizabeth Bentley as a member of a secret communist ring which supplied her with wartime secrets will be called today by the House Un-American Activities committee.

The witness is A. George Silverman, who two years ago refused to tell the committee on constitutional grounds of possible self-incrimination whether or not he was a communist.

Silverman was summoned to the stand by the house probers three days after the appearance of ex-New Dealer Lee Pressman who admitted he was a card-carrying communist for a year in the 1930's and that he did not completely break with the party's beliefs until after the Korean fighting began.

The three-day commissioners' conventions ends tonight in Pittsburgh after a banquet at which Gov. James H. Duff will speak.

Bell To Speak At Portersville

East Germany May Sign Treaty With Russia

By GEORGE DURNO
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—U.S. High Commissioner to Germany John J. McCloy predicted today that East Germany and Russia will soon announce the signing of a separate peace treaty.

McCloy said on his arrival in Washington that he had "heard" that a draft of the treaty has been completed, and that the signing of the pact would be "in line with the trend of Russian policy."

The treaty is generally expected to provide for withdrawal of Russian troops and a kind of "independence" for the East German state.

Arrives With Douglas

McCloy arrived by air in company with Lewis W. Douglas, U.S. ambassador to Britain. Both will participate in high-level Washington conferences preceding a meeting of the U.S., French and British foreign ministers at Lake Success September 12-14.

Douglas said that Western Germany "must be associated in some way with the free democracies for the defense of Western Europe."

He said there is "no definite plan" to arm Western Germans, and that feeling in Germany is "mixed" on whether they wished to be armed.

Meanwhile, the State Department showed plain irritation over charges of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, that the administration suffers a "complete lack of both plans and policy" on the question of rearmament.

Red China Again Accuses U. S. Air Force Of Strafing

LONDON, August 31.—(INS)—Communist China accused the U.S. Air Force again today of strafing Red territory and demanded that the United Nations Security Council take "effective measures" at once to halt American aggression.

The text of identical telegrams protesting the alleged raids and sent to UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie and Soviet UN delegate Jacob Malik was released in London by the Communist New China news agency. The notes were signed by Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai.

(Earlier in Washington, Secretary of State Dean Acheson warned the Peiping regime to stay out of the Korean war or be branded an aggressor in violation of the UN charter.)

Seven Cars Of Train Derailed In Texas Wreck

LAMPASAS, Tex., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Seven cars of an eastbound Santa Fe passenger train were derailed and plunged down a steep embankment near Lampasas early today injuring 16 persons.

Eight of the injured passengers were hospitalized. Eight others were taken to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries but later were released.

The conductor, J. P. Butler, of Temple, Tex., suffered severe shoulder injuries and brakeman F. W. Wilson was listed as critically injured.

The train, bound for Houston from California jumped the track shortly before 3 a. m.

Company officials have arrived at the scene of the wreck to determine the cause of the derailment. The Lampasas county sheriff's office reported earlier that a split rail had caused the accident.

The passengers on the train were sent by bus to Temple, Tex., where they will continue their trip.

Hiccoughs?—Try This Treatment

LONDON.—(INS)—For eight days a man suffered violent hiccoughs in London's St. Thomas Hospital and no treatment helped him. Then he remembered that he had once read of a cure in a book by Sir Alan Herbert. He asked for a copy of the book, entitled: "Sip, Swallow," but the book was difficult to find.

In desperation he had his nurse telephone Sir Alan who obligingly sent a copy to the hospital. The treatment suggested in it was carried out and the man was completely cured of his hiccoughs.

Said Sir Alan:

"It consists simply of blocking the ears with a finger of each hand while taking five sips of water from a glass on a table. I have often bet hiccough victims $2 that it would work, and so far I have never had to pay up.

PAW DOUGH

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(INS)—The paw print of Nigel the Sultan is worth money in Lexington, Ky. Nigel, a black and white Dalmation, has accumulated a sizeable amount of coin by begetting more of his dogdom breed. So successful has his business venture been that his master, J. H. Ransom, decided Nigel deserved a private checking account. The special checks bear Nigel's picture. An inky paw print is his signature.

Silverman Refuses To Answer Probe Questions Today

WASHINGTON, August 31.—(INS)—An alleged member of a wartime Washington spy ring refused for a second time today to answer questions of House Red-probers on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

A. George Silverman, civilian employe of the Air Force during World War II, took the same defiant stand before the House Un-American Activities Committee as he did in 1948 when first accused of being a member of the Communist espionage apparatus.

He declined to tell the committee whether he knew Miss Elizabeth Bentley, confessed Red courier, who charged him with supplying her government data, or Nathan G. Silvermaster, whom she said headed the ring to which Silverman belonged.

Silverman, who also has refused to say whether he ever was a Communist, once more insisted that he never "knowingly" gave any government secrets to an unauthorized person.

At one point, a 10-minute recess was taken by the committee to allow the witness to consult with his attorney in hopes he would change his stand.

Sure Cure For Stage Fright

NEW YORK. — (INS) — Ruby Goldstein, one of boxing's outstanding referees and a former star ringman, says he was cured of stage fright by Joe Louis.

Ruby now makes some 60 after dinner talks a year and has appeared on the lecture podium at the University of Washington.

But his first experience came during World War II when he accompanied Joe Louis to the Aleutians to entertain troops. Ruby suffered a severe attack of stage fright, but the heavyweight champion pushed him on stage and growled:

"Talk em up."

Ruby recalls:

"I looked over at Louis, saw he was bigger than I was and started talking. As I went along I discovered I was on solid ground talking about boxing—and forgot all about being nervous."

Says Russia Is Known To Have Some A-Bombs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Sen. McMahon (D) Conn., chairman of the congressional atomic committee, said today that "it is a solemn fact" that Russia has a number of atomic bombs.

McMahon made the statement in supporting President Truman's request to congress for $139,800,000 to disperse government activities and make Washington a poor a-bomb target.

The senator declared:

"If the headquarters of the FBI, the military department, intelligence or civil defense were destroyed—or evn immobilized for 24 hours—our war effort might suffer a grave setback".

McMahon said the president's request "is absolutely necessary", and added:

"As long as Russia possesses atomic bombs, our vital government agencies should not be bunched together in downtown Washington . . .

"It is a solemn fact that Soviet Russia today possesses some atomic bombs".

Approximately 300 motor vehicle accidents have occurred in the city of New Castle this year during which 83 persons suffered some kind of an injury. Thousands of dollars of damage is estimated to have been caused by the accidents. Several of the injured received hospital attention.

The accidents included small boys and girls struck by the cars.

MIAMI, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The season's fourth tropical hurricane, bearing winds of more than 100 miles an hour, was located by a navy reconnaissance plane today 110 miles southeast of the island of Guadeloupe and about 1,500 miles southeast of Miami.

The San Juan, Puerto Rico, weather bureau reported at 8 a. m. (EST) that the new storm appears to be moving in a northwest direction.

The Lesser Antilles are threatened by the new storm.

Hurricane warnings are displayed from Dominica through Saint Martin's and Anguilla.

The reconnaissance plane pilot reported the storm center is more than 250 miles northwest of the location given last night by vague ship reports.

LOVE OF LIFE

For those who regular feed the birds one of the sadder things is to see the ravages of old age taking their toll of a sparrow. Until recently three such victims of Father Time haunted the feeding platform in my backyard. Two succumbed to the grim reaper, but a bedraggled old veteran determinedly hangs on competing with younger and more vociferous and vigorous companions for his bit of bread or scratch feed.

It is rather difficult to determine exactly how these oldsters are affected, but by their actions it must be some kind of senile paralysis which affects their coordinative powers to the extent that they are able to walk and eat only with the greatest difficulty. As this surviving old timer hops to a piece of bread he frequently loses his balance, toppling forward and recovering only after much effort. When getting a drink at the nearby pool he must approach with intense care and then exercise even more caution when he leans forward for a drink. Obviously, a loss of balance at the pool's edge would more than likely prove fatal. That's how one of the three oldsters succumbed, by tipping over into the water and drowning. Several hours later I found its pitifully emaciated body floating prone on the surface.

Nature Is Lavish

Nature is prodigiously lavish and generous especially in its production of life. However, it is a hard taskmaster when exacting its toll. It is relentless and offers no quarter. And, it is supposed, that that is how it should be. Can anything more explorable be imagined than the female black widow spider turning about and eating its much smaller mate immediately after the completion of the mating act? The praying mantis does likewise. These, of course, are but two examples of many similar ones. Nature has devious and seemingly cruel ways for curbing overproduction and thereby attempting to keep a balance of its charges.

Last year we observed several sparrows besieged by old age and who finally gave way to its demands. But, don't think that the tough little gamins didn't put up a game fight. One old chap came regularly every morning, making a one-point landing nearly always on his chin. With a dignity and deliberateness never exhibited by its younger fellows, it would pick itself up and then solemnly hop to a slice of bread or a heap of scratch feed and fed slowly, methodically and with apparent relish as becomes any patriarch whether clothed in feathers, fur or clothing.

Rather Touching

When the youngsters are at the age when they beg food from parents or any handy bystander alike, it is rather touching to see the hungry fledgling loudly and insistently begging food from the lone survivor, particularly when he himself is attempting to take a lean bite. However, at the interruption he always pauses and patiently waits until the young beggars hop off to attempt mooching from other members of their clan. After they leave he weakly but appreciatively begins eating.

I am convinced now that this old boy depends entirely on the food that is regularly put out. He is on hand as soon as he hears the sound of the two glass jars containing feed which I clink together to summon him and frequently, scores of others. He seemingly is half tame or what is more likely, blind in one eye because he permits me to approach rather closely (four or five feet), before stiffly fluttering off into a nearby hedge.

Despite the handicaps imposed by his declining years, this latest victim seems to enjoy life and clings to it tenaciously. I shall miss him when he no longer answers chow call.

The Grand Canyon is a mile deep and four to 18 miles across.

House Votes For Draft Of Doctors, Dentists, Specialists

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(INS)—The House voted Wednesday to draft doctors, dentists and allied specialists through age 50 for 21 months service in the armed forces.

Similar action was taken by the Senate Tuesday and the legislation now will go to conference to iron out differences. The Senate bill would draft doctors through age 55 and dentists through age 45.

Under the House measure, approximately 5,613 men who received their medical training during the last war at government expense would be first to be called.

Those who saw less than 90 days active duty would go first, followed by those who served more than 90 days and less than 21 months.

State May Face Labor Shortage

Defense Work And Army Drain Supply

By ED HAUCK . . . . . .
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—Pennsylvania soon may face a labor shortage as a result of the Korean war, the state bureau of employment and unemployment compensation reported Tuesday.

Contracts for defense work in the hundreds of plants throughout the state plus the drain on manpower by activation of the National Guard and reserve units will cut into the state's labor reservoir, a bureau spokesman said.

In addition, he pointed out that thousands of other young men will be skiimmed for the labor market by selective service.

Boom Period

"We are now entering a boom period similar to the one of several months ago," the spokesman said. "There are jobs around and they are increasing. We are likely to be faced very soon with a labor shortage".

Latest Pennsylvania payrolls list more than 4,400,000 persons with the number of unemployed around 400,000.

The jobless figure includes thousands of high school and college graduates dumped into the labor supply in June, the spokesman said.

Johnstown Dropped

Another indication of the dwindling labor surplus is the disclosure by the federal department of labor that Johnstown will be dropped as an "emergency" area.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Accessory designers have spent so much time making gloves glamorous, they forgot how to make them warm—till this season.

For fall 1950, elbow-length gloves in knitted wool and cozy colors. And they'll be considered as sophisticated as a Dior dream!

The elbow-lengths offer the perfect keep-warm solution to the new high-fashion short-sleeved winter coats which would otherwise be chic but shivery in December. Furthermore, they're so soft that, like long silk gloves, they can be crushed to the wrist if need be and occasion demands.

They're being shown in white soft wools for evening and formal wear, and in huskier nubby and argyle effect for jaunts in the country.

WAMPUM

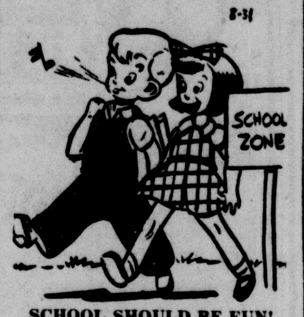
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Turner of New Castle spent Tuesday with the C. F. Morrows.

Mrs. Jno. Allen, Anna May Kirschler, Mrs. Louise Baker son Timmy spent Monday at Cascade Park.

In 1847 barbed wire makers employed boys to carry wire to the tops of trees and string barbs on a strand which workmen on the ground later clamped in place.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE



SCHOOL SHOULD BE FUN!

Believe it or not, some parents are worried when their children enjoy going to school!

Mr. Barrows expressed it this way, "I know it sounds funny but I can't help feeling that if Bill likes school so much, they cannot be making him work hard enough! He is actually glad when Monday morning rolls around."

Like our ancestors who believed that only vile tasting medicines could really be good for what ailed them, some of us feel that painless learning, learning that's fun doesn't amount to much. But we're wrong!

Careful studies have shown that children learn more, learn faster and retain what they learn when they enjoy the learning. The child who is interested, who is having fun, can learn all sorts of facts which a disinterested classmate just can't assimilate.

Don't you have examples in your own home? Perhaps your eleven year old knows an astounding amount about the different makes of airplanes. Or the junior stamp collector speaks wisely of watermarks, perforations and other technical details. Such youngsters learn painlessly. They learn because it is fun for them.

As citizens, as tax-payers and as parents, we can strongly and wisely support the schools where children enjoy themselves for it is there that real learning is going on.

Benson-Perkins Wedding Ceremony

Miss Norma Ruth Benson, daughter of Mrs. Daisy Robinson of Athens, Ga., was united in marriage to Henry Lee Perkins, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Perkins of 134 Mahoning avenue, on Saturday evening, August 26, at 6:30 o'clock.

The Church of God in Christ was the setting for the charming rite, the double ring ceremony being performed by Rev. Shephard Threats, against an embankment of ferns, amid the glow of candlelight.

The bride was escorted to the altar by Levi W. Beard, a close friend. She wore a gown of bridal satin featuring a Chinese neckline with woven patterns formed by beads. Long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists, and the skirt was enhanced with a side peplum and ended in a cathedral train. Her illusion veil was held in place by a halo with seed pearl trim. She carried a white Bible topped with a single orchid and showered with stephanotis.

Miss Susie Bell, as the honor attendant, wore a green satin gown with matching hat and mitts. Bridesmaids were Jean Morgan, Rozella Clark, and Naomi Perkins, sister of the groom. Each attendant carried a white Bible topped with gladioli. Their streamers were tied with tiny Shasta daisies. Junior bridesmaids were Patricia and Donna Jones, cousins of the groom, Gertrude Clark and Mary Jean Turner.

John Perkins served his twin brother as best man, while Robert Cummings, Ben Gaither and Luther Eggleston ushered. Little John Clark was the ring bearer.

Mrs. Elenora Garside played appropriate nuptial music and accompanied soloist Ulysses Walker when he sang "Because".

The wedding dinner and reception were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Beard, West Pittsburg road. The traditional rehearsal dinner was given by the bride in her home on Moravia street.

Mrs. Perkins is a graduate of Athens High school, class of 1948, and is employed in the Shenango Pottery, while Mr. Perkins is with the Pennsylvania Railroad. The young couple have taken up residence in their newly furnished apartment, 135 Elm street.

The first printing press was set set up in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1493.

Y.W.C.A. Provides Home And Recreation For Girls

One of the 12 Community Chest Red Feather Agencies — those agencies partially financed by funds from your Community Chest —is your local Y.W.C.A.

The Y.W.C.A., like other organizations sponsored by the Community Chest, is indispensable in a city the size of New Castle.

Among the things done at the local Y.W.C.A., which is located on the public square, is to help with work in the community for teenage girls, young adults and home women. It provides a home away from home for those girls that live outside of the city, it gives assistance to travellers through the Traveler's Aid and provides a meeting place for all kinds of organizations.

Traveller's Aid

Among the lesser known services of the Y.W.C.A. is the Traveler's Aid. Through the Traveler's Aid, persons from out of town, or local persons away from the city, may receive necessary assistance.

Among the services of the local Y.W.C.A. through the Traveler's Aid is to see that children traveling through New Castle make the correct bus connections.

Another little known service of the local Y.W.C.A., are naturalization classes. The Y.W.C.A. is the only organization in the city that sponsors such classes.

In the Teen-Age Department are a number of Y-Teen clubs, built through the city school system. All classes meet in their respective schools, except the senior high group which meets at the Y.W.C.A.

Besides providing recreation and enjoyment for the teen-age girls of the city, these clubs also help the girls to aid in community projects.

In the Young Adult division are clubs for business, professional and industrial girls.

Various Classes

Among the everyday activities of the Y.W. are classes in slip covers, lamp shades, sewing, cooking, etc. The Y.W.C.A. players club, which was active last winter has commenced plans to put on three one-act plays during the winter months.

A full house of 19 girls are currently making their homes at the Y.W.C.A.

Any teen-age group, committee or board group is invited to hold meetings at the Y.W.C.A. free of charge.

Through your contributions to the Community Chest, you will help the Y.W.C.A. and other necessary organizations in your city to keep up the fine work that they are doing.

PLAN POLICE ESCORT

Mayor John F. Haven has instructed Police Chief Robert D. Hanna to provide an escort for a band from the Legion Home to Taylor street prepartory to the derby event Labor Day.

STEAL ACCORDION

John Frank, of Hillsville, reported to police he parked his auto at 3:30 p. m. in North Mercer street, near North street, and someone stole an accordion from the auto.

Catholic Men Plan For Rally

Men of the various local Catholic churches will join others in a rally Sunday, September 10, at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. This meeting is being sponsored by the Holy Name society. It is expected that there will be representatives from the ten counties of the Diocese of Pittsburgh present at the rally.

The Most Rev. William T. Mulloy, D. D., bishop of Covington, Ky., will be the main speaker at the meeting that is to start at 7:30 p. m.

WAGE BOOST GIVEN

Opposing Korean Armies Seek To Draft Same Men

By JOHN RICH
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

A SOUTH KOREAN PORT, Aug. 31. — Competition for draftable fighting men is so keen between North and South Koreans that southern marines made a commando-like raid to grab 200 potential fighters from the Mirukto peninsula.

An amphibious landing was made Wednesday night, according to an announcement today, in order to keep a possible Communist foray from pressing military-age men into service.

Two hundred men who can fight constitute quite a war prize for the opposing Korean armies right now.

Scene of the raid on the southerners' own territory was a peninsula jutting out of South Korea, with Tongyong as its main town.

Both sides in this bitter war are pulling all draftable men into training camps and sending them forward as quickly as possible to build up depleted units.

And the way the Koreans fight each other, the units get depleted pretty fast.

Little Training

Reports say the North Koreans have sent men and boys into the lines with but 36 hours' training. Some reportedly were forced ahead at gunpoint.

Another story says that North Koreans have sent boys ahead of regular troops to shoot cap-pistols and other noisemakers in efforts to scare United Nations troops.

The South Koreans have many training camps into which they are pulling every available male of fighting age.

Like the Northerners, the South Koreans take some boys of 15 and even 14 years old.

American officers, many of them veterans from training outfits in the states, help train the South Korean conscripts.

American weapons are beginning to arrive in quantity.

Neither side has much time to waste training new men, many of they learn how to load a rifle, whom are sent forward as soon as

All of which makes Korea a frightening place for a draft-dodger!

HUNTING TESTS

A method of positively identifying deer meat or blood stains has been developed by Conservation Commission Biologists at the University of Missouri Wildlife research Unit.

Bus Overturns In Rain; Six Injured

ALLENTOWN, Pa., August 31.—(INS)—Six passengers were hurt and 10 escaped injury last night when a Reading Transportation Company bus overturned during a rainstorm in South Whitehall Township, three miles north of Allentown.

The passengers were trapped briefly in the vehicle but were released when Joseph Loeffler, 30, of Mahanoy City, the operator, used a fire axe to knock out the windshield.

Treated at Sacred Heart hospital were Peter Gaughan, 81, of Springfield, O., possible fractured ribs and internal injuries; his daughter, Mrs. C. H. Dinglebein, and his niece, Mrs. Mary R. Rattigan, of Shenandoah, Pa., who suffered cuts and bruises.

Treated at Allentown hospital were John D. Snyder, of Shenandoah; Florence Zilker, of Mahanoy City, and Kathryn Amboll, of Ashland.

Restrictions Issued On Shipments In Japanese Beetle Areas

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst announced today the lifting of a special quarantine on bulk movements of cut flowers, fruits and vegetables in the heavily infested Japanese beetle area embracing southeastern counties.

Restrictions on green corn shipments will remain effective until September 30.

The department reported the beetles this year are disappearing about a week to 10 days later than usual.

Mild winter weather is blamed for the increase in beetles and the cool, wet spring and summer for their late departure.

The fruit belt of western Adams and eastern Franklin counties was the hardest hit by beetles this year, the department reported.

Rev. Robert McNeill At Leesburg Rally

Speaker for the Leesburg Youth for Christ rally in the Leesburg Presbyterian church Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, with Rev. Robert E. McNeill of Horseheads, N. Special music will be presented during the rally service which promises to be inspirational.

Two Are Cited On Contempt Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Tempers are still boiling in the House today after the citation for contempt of Congress of two witnesses who defied the lobbying investigating committee.

The two men cited were Edward A. Rumely, executive director of the committee for constitutional government, and William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the civil rights congress.

Rumely was cited by the narrow margin of 183 to 175 after an impassioned attack on him by Democratic Leader McCormack of Mass., during which McCormack also castigated Republican Chieftain Martin of Mass., and Rep. Hallack of Ind., GOP majority leader in the 80th Congress.

BIDS ON LABORATORY

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31—(INS)—The General State Authority has received low bids totaling $409,200 on laboratory equipment for two new buildings at Pennsylvania State College.

The equipment will be installed in the new Plant Industries and Mineral Sciences buildings.

The bids: Metalab Equipment Co., of Brooklyn, $251,310 for equipment in the Plant Industries building and E. H. Sheldon and Co., of Muskegon, Mich., $157,890, for equipment in the Mineral Sciences building.

MANAGED MILKING CUTS CHORE TIME

Dairy chore time, which averages up to 86 per cent of all labor on dairy farms, can be cut by practicing managed milking.

Managed milking also contributes to more and cleaner milk. Demonstrations can be arranged through contacting the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Providing needed facilities and their proper arrangement in milk house reduces time required for washing and sanitizing equipment. One study made recently showed this distribution of time on dairy farms: 48 per cent for milking, 16 per cent for cleaning mangers and feeding, 13 for caring for utensils, 13 for cleaning stables and bedding cows, 6 caring for milk, and 4 getting cows in and out of barns.

USE GOOD PRODUCTS TO AVOID PICKLE FAILURES

During late August and early September, homemakers in Lawrence county will make the bulk of their pickles. Although their food value is not high, pickles add interest, flavor, and color to a meal.

For success in making pickles, homemakers are reminded to use high quality fruits, vegetables, and pickling ingredients. A high-grade cider vinegar gives best results. Fresh, sound fruits and vegetables are "musts" for satisfactory pickles.

Most pickles failures can be avoided. Too much salt and sugar or too strong vinegar may cause tough or shriveled pickles. Hurrying the brining or cooking processes may also cause shriveling. Too strong vinegar may cause soft pickles as will a too weak brine or overcooking. Hollow pickles are the result of using imperfect cucumbers or ones that have lost their crispness. A good rule to follow is to start your pickling within 24 hours after the cucumbers are gathered. Fruit pickles are one of the "musts" for most homemakers. Spiced peaches, pears or apples, are an excellent accompaniment for a chicken or turkey dinner. Perhaps you would like to try this recipe for spiced fruit:

Put 6 cups sugar, 3 cups vinegar, 3 cups water, ten 2-inch pieces stick cinnamon, and 1 tablespoon whole cloves in a large saucepan. Boil 5 minutes. Drop in fruits, a few at a time, and cook until tender. Pack hot into sterilized jars, fill to top with sirup, then seal. For a plumper pickle, you may allow fruit to stand overnight in sirup. In the morning, drain off sirup, and boil until thick. Pack fruit into hot sterilized jars, fill with hot sirup, then seal. Six pounds of peaches will fill about 4 quart jars, and 8 halves of pears, medium size, will fill one pint jar.

BUSINESS CENTER IN THE KITCHEN

More and more homemakers are planning pleasant working space in the kitchen for their household business. How often while you are working in the kitchen have you thought of things to jot down, groceries that are needed, or jobs to be done? With an "office" in the kitchen, you have a place to file bills, circulars, newspaper clippings and recipes.

If your kitchen is small, a shelf with space enough for writing will serve the purpose. Equip it with a chair or stool that slides easily in under the shelf when not in use. Place a bulletin board and a good pin-up light on the wall above the shelf.

With a small table or desk you can have a more complete business center. Or extend the kitchen counter surface into a corner. Finish the cupboard above with shelves and pigeonholes to take care of supplies.

Good location for the business center is against an interior wall. Then you can place the telephone in a paneled section opening into both rooms, the kitchen and living room, dining room or hall.

A shallow drawer or tray with wooden or plastic dividers will help keep small writing supplies orderly.

Some of the items you may want to keep at your kitchen business center are writing pad, pencils, ink eraser, ruler, pen and ink, blotter, thumb tacks, paper clips, scissors, calendar, and some type of filing system. A clock, telephone, or radio put into your oficer into the luxury class.

Trio Arrested On Burglary Charge

Walter Horton, 19, Wurtemburg, and two juveniles, also of Wurtemburg, have been taken in custody by state police and face charges before Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds, Union township, of burglarizing the summer homes of Lester Hamburg and H. S. Starling in Perry township.

The Hamburg home was entered twice, the Horton place, once, it is reported. Guns, food, beverages and ammunition were taken. All pleaded guilty. Horton was recommitted to the county jail and the juveniles to the detention home.

RED SUBS

LONDON—(INS)—The London Daily Graphic reported that Russia is speeding submarine production and plans to have 1,160 operating by January 1, 1952. The newspaper's "Inside Information" column said that 710 of the subs will be long-range vessels, capable of making 26 knots and carrying V-2 catapults; 200 will be medium subs for coastal defense and 250 trainers.

New Evidence Of Mysterious Red Air Fields

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(INS)—An Air Force spokesman Wednesday reported new evidence that the Communists are building airfields in North Korea to harbor "planes we know nothing about."

He said the North Koreans are estimated to have only 14 to 16 planes, and indicated a belief that the airports are being built for planes to be sent from Russia or Communist China.

The spokesman said no increase of opposing aircraft has been noted as yet. He pointed out, however, that the day is approaching when the U. S. and its allies can launch an offensive toward North Korea.

Long Runways

The new airports, including runways long enough for jet planes and heavy concrete walls to protect them from bomb damage, are being built mainly in the vicinities of Pyongyang, North Korean capital, and Wonsan, oil refining center.

An Army spokesman said U. S. forces in Korea "have either reached the point of stabilized defense, or are nearing stabilization."

He warned that it will take "weeks or months" to build up a general offensive after stabilization is reached.

The Air Force said it has no reports, either confirmation or denial, that Chinese Communist troops are moving into North Korea.

PEARL CULTURE

TOKYO — In producing culture pearls, about 60 per cent of the oysters operated upon produce pearls, but only about 5 per cent of these are marketable.

Another Bus Line Strike Is Threat

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Federal mediators—already involved in five Pittsburgh district bus strikes—tried to avert a sixth which will deny transportation to 15,000 commuters along the right bank of the Ohio river between Sewickley and Beaver Falls.

Eighty AFL bus drivers have threatened to walkout at 1:30 a. m. (EDT) tomorrow unless the Beaver Valley Motor Coach company meets their contract demands.

A spectometer can distinguish two million different color shades.

'Occupation Of Japan Started Five Years Ago

TOKYO, August 31.—(INS)—Five years ago Wednesday Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed at Atsuga airport to begin the allied occupation of Japan.

MacArthur worked his usual hours today without giving any public indication that he was aware of the anniversary.

However, there was one thing that tied him to that day five years ago when he stood atop the ladder of this plane, the "Bataan," and surveyed the crowds of Americans and Japanese at Atsugi.

A four-man Filipino military mission representing the general's long-time comrades-in-arms spent a half-hour with him to discuss the broad aspects of a new effort in which Filipino soldiers once again will be under MacArthur's command.

Filipino Aid

After conferring with MacArthur the mission went to work with staff officers on details of the Filipino aid in the Korean war.

The Filipinos said that the general did not mention Atsugi to them "because we were too engrossed in the problem at hand and did not discuss anything else."

Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, the only officer still in headquarters who flew with MacArthur to Japan, said he had not heard the general mention Atsugi today.

SEED PLANTING

URBANA, Ill.—(INS)—The best time to plant lawn grass seed in Illinois is from late August through early September, according to the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois.

Mother Fatally Beaten By Son

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Police said today that a 38-year-old man beat his widowed mother to death last night while she she was telephoning to obtain the name of a physician who might benefit him.

The victim, Mrs. Clara Probst, was found in a pool of blood in the living room of the home which she shared with her son, George, in the Frankford section of Philadelphia.

Patrolman David Miller, who kicked in the front door to gain admission said he had to use his nightstick to subdue Probst who was standing over his mother's body.

The policeman said that Probst apparently used the receiver of a French-type telephone as the murder weapon.

Neighbors told police that Probst had exhibited "spells" of irrational behavior recently.

Mrs. Mae Piel, a friend, told police Mrs. Probst was talking with her on the telephone when she was attacked. She said she heard the victim scream and call for help.

Mrs. Piel said she was giving Mrs. Probst the name of a doctor who might help her son.

The son was taken to Frankford hospital for treatment. He had gone to the Philadelphia Naval hospital yesterday, but was sent home later in the day.

South Korean Congressmen Are One Chief Prize Of War

By FRANK EMERY
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, Aug. 31.—A South Korean diplomat said today North Korean Communists are trying to capture a majority of South Korean congressmen to get a "torture chamber vote" communizing his country.

Congressmen like Chong Sun Yi say the Communists now consider South Korean assemblymen a chief prize of war.

Chong, now counsellor to Korea's diplomatic mission in Japan, said his government is convinced the Communists planned to add South Korea to the list of Soviet satellite states three weeks after invading the fledgling republic.

"They planned to get everything," said Chong, "before the United Nations could act."

Joins Refugees

Chong, a former secretary-general of the South Korean legislature, joined the refugee flight southward from the intrigue-filled capital of Seoul shortly before the Communist troops rolled into the city.

The fact that politics has become a dangerous thing even behind the American front line in Korea probably is best illustrated by Chong's frank admission that South Korean congressmen at the provisional capital of Taegu are too frightened to debate issues on the floor of the national assembly.

"They just prefer to raise their hands," said Chong, "and then drop them quickly when they vote."

Chong said the assemblymen's fear largely is based on the fact that most of their families still are living in Seoul, where the Communists are holding at least 40 of the 210 elected South Korean congressmen. An additional group of about 20 congressmen, he said, are believed to be hiding somewhere in Communist-controlled South Korea.

"In any event," said Chong, "we still hold the majority. The Communists planned to roundup a majority in order to sign a declaration, that South Korea had become a Communist state by majority vote of the national assembly. We intend to keep the majority."

All But Three Red Divisions At Battlefront

TOKYO, Aug. 31 — (INS) — A spokesman for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Intelligence Service said Wednesday all but three of North Korea's 15 army divisions in South Korea are at or near the battlefront.

Every enemy division numbered from one to 15—except the 9th, 11th and 14th—is or has been in battle contact with American and South Korean troops, the officer said.

The 9th, 11th and 14th, he added, are probably being prepared for action.

These three divisions, according to the American Intelligence officer, have been organized with well-trained officers leading masses of newly-conscripted troops.

Others Doubtful

However, the spokesman said, the Allied aerial interdiction of enemy supply movements makes it doubtful that the 9th, 11th and 14th have equipment as good as that of the 12th Red division already committed to battle.

The officer offered no official estimate of the present numerical strength of the average North Korean division.

The last such headquarters estimate was made August 10th when Intelligence officers placed the number of troops in each North Korean division at 10,970. Since then, MacArthur's officers have refused to estimate the strength of enemy units, pleading that heavy Red losses and uncertainty regarding extent of replacements make such estimates untrustworthy.

No Madison Square Garden Rental To Subversive Groups

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(INS)—For the first time in the history of Madison Square Garden, officials of the big arena have refused to rent it for a rally. They said the backers of the rally are on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Ned Irish, vice president of the Garden, explained:

"To the best of our knowledge there is a bill pending in Congress that would make it illegal to rent to a subversive organization."

The organization which tried to rent the Garden is the Council on African Affairs, whose chairman is Paul Robeson.

Dr. Alpheus Hunton, executive secretary of the council, said it planned a rally and concert on September 14, partly to protest the State Department's refusal to grant Robeson a passport and partly "to speak out for colonial peoples, civil rights and peace."

Dr. Hunton protested that the reasons for the ban "don't hold water" and said the council "is going ahead with determination to hold the meeting." He denied that the Mundt-Ferguson Bill for controlling communists has such a provision as Irish said it had.

Fruit Processors Change Schedules Due To Crop Growth Delay

MARTINSBURG, W. Va.—(INS)—Processors of fruit in West Virginia reportedly are changing their schedules to allow for the delay in growth at many orchards throughout the state.

Apples are slow in maturing as a result of continued dry weather, farmers said, and estimated the season will be about a week to ten days late. Some orchardists said the crop may be delayed a few days more if the dry weather continues.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS

"I am embarrassed and exceedingly quiet when in the company of strangers. I cannot seem to think of anything to say, although I am considered rather clever by those who know me well. I feel all hands and feet and am generally self-conscious. Can you help me overcome this unfortunate condition?"

Answer: You alone can conquer it! And conquer it you must or it will conquer you and make your life miserable. First of all, stop thinking that everyone's eyes are focussed on you to see how you will behave, how clever you are—as if you personally have been "put on the spot."

This is conceit. Why should you assume you are so important that everyone in the room is concentrating on your actions. Silly, isn't it? Check up on yourself and make all the improvements necessary. See that you are clean, neat, well-coiffed and well-groomed. If you feel that you look attractive, you will have less inclination to shrink.

There is really no excuse for suffering from a permanent inferiority complex. If you know yourself to be inferior, wake up and do something about it. If you have no conversational topics, it means that you never go anywhere, never read anything, never go to the movies, never observe at all—which condition is really very sad and should be improved.

If you aren't lacking in any of these attributes, you are foolish to remain silently in your shell while, no doubt, inferior people are unselfconsciously expressing themselves. You should make up your mind to speak up and let the world know that you too can think. Concentrate on the others in the room and forget about yourself. There is so much to talk about today that it is really very easy to contribute your share.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Engineering Professors Practicing What They Teach In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—More than a score of professors from leading engineering colleges are spending the summer in Pittsburgh practicing what they teach—helping to build complicated electrical equipment they normally meet only in textbooks.

The 21 educators are combining textbook theories with actual proctice in a program sponsored by the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Called "lend-lease," the colleges lend professors to Westinghouse, where they get practical training and in return Westinghouse gets better engineers when the professors' students graduate.

'We Build Our Road Too Wet'

Such Is Claim Made In Connection With Road Building

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Pennsylvania turnpike engineers raised their eyebrows over a circular distributed by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Federation titled "We Build Our Roads Too Wet". The leaflet was a reprint of a story appearing in a Washington newsletter. The story mentioned that the turnpike was not withstanding the rigors of heavy traffic and weather because wet cement was used in laying the road. The article said that dry cement used in construction of the German autobahnen made them superior to American roads. Turnpike materials engineer G. A. Rahn said that all of the knowledge of the Germans combined with the lessons learned in building the present 160-mile turnpike "have been adopted in construction of the present turnpike extensions". He would not confirm or deny the story in the circular.

Democratic headquarters currently publicizing a letter said to have been distributed by Schuylkill county GOP chairman G. Watkins excusing state and county employes in Pottsville from regular duties for two days to register voters. Each worker was asked to register at least five persons, according to the letter. Democrats did not mention it but it is understood that the Schuylkill county committee offered prizes to those who registered the most voters. The women winners were to have been given purses valued at $5 if they made their quota. The men were given other items priced about the same as the women's.

The state game commission distributed more than 960,000 tree and shrub seedlings of various types during the last fiscal year to farmers cooperating in the commission's farm-game project. In addition, more than 40,000 seedlings were planted on cooperators' farms by commission workmen assigned to do food and cover improvement work. Project farmers also received thousands of pounds of seed to provide food for wildlife and to prevent erosion of farm lands. The commission reported that as a result of another cooperative venture, 7,983 predacious birds and animals were killed during the last year on farms. "This activity was beneficial to both hunters and farmers because the various species of birds and animals destructive to wildlife quite frequently raid farmers' chicken yards," the commission reported.

FIRE CAUSES $10,000 LOSS

CARLISLE, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—A fire started by a bolt of lightning last night destroyed a barn and its contents on a farm nine miles south of Carlisle with a loss of more than $10,000.

The property is owned by E. L. Mellinger, who said hundreds of bushels of grain, 60 tons of hay and straw and several farm implements went up in flames.

Two fire companies battled the blaze for more than an hour.

MURPHYSBORO, ILL.—A 220 pound bull calf meditates on its sins in the city jail here, after booked on charges of disturbing the peace and resisting an officer. The bull was 'thrown" by two policemen, who discovered it wandering around the lawn of the Jackson county courthouse in the wee hours of the morning. The beast was released when the Police Magistrate declared himself disqualified for hearing the case, because he had developed a fondness for the animal.

Eagles Trounce Rams 49 to 14

Los Angeles Team Sadly Outclassed

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Eagles, defending National Football League champions, showed 24,119 Los Angeles fans last night they still are masters of the hometown Rams by walloping the west coast gridders 49 to 14.

The Rams, defeated by the Eagles in the title playoff last season, were never in the exhibition after V. T. (Vitamin Tablet) Smith raced 84 yards with a Philadelphia punt when the game was two and a half minutes old.

Rams Overwhelmed

The visitors then launched an air and ground offensive that overwhelmed the Rams. They drove 85 yards in 10 plays for a touchdown by Clyde (Smackover) Scott from the Six; they went 63 yards in 13 plays and scored on a pass from Tommy Thompson to Pete Pihos who lateralled to Jack Meyers.

In the third period the Eagles scored three touchdowns in seven minutes. Jim Parmer got two of them, Tony Ledbetter the third. Joe Muha intercepted a pass for another six-pointer in the fourth quarter and Jerry Krall completed the rout with a final TD.

A Norm Van Brocklin pass to Art Fletcher accounted for the Rams' consolation tally.

Second Best Month For Auto Turnout

DETROIT, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Automotive News today reported the August output of 817,151 cars and trucks will be the second best monthly turnout in U.S. automotive history.

This month's total includes 681,641 cars and 135,510 trucks.

This week's production was estimated at 151,631 cars and 27,706 trucks for a total of 179,337 vehicles, as compared with last week's total of 171,268 units, which included 141,944 cars and 29,324 trucks.

The Automotive News pointed out that U.S. vehicle output has been averaging 170,000 units weekly recently. As a result, the average could fall to 100,000 for the rest of the year and still allow the production of seven million vehicles this year.

The trade paper said the auto industry is still confident that car and truck production in this country "will continue at relatively high levels through the rest of the year at least."

Caught In Draft Much To Soon

PLYMOUTH, Eng.—(INS)—It was a great day for Michael D. Wilkins when he received his call-up papers conscripting him into His Majesty's armed forces.

Michael was granted a day off from school to accompany his mother to the recruiting center.

Grave-faced officials assured Mrs. Wilkins that Michael, aged 11, would not be needed for some time.

STRIKE IS CALLED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The United Wallpaper Craftsmen and Workers Union (AFL) today called a strike, effective at midnight, EDT, against the nation's major wallpaper manufacturers.

A union spokesman, in Washington for the labor organization's convention, said that about 4,000 workers, more than a quarter of them in the Chicago area, are affected.

The spokesman said that the strike was called over wages and working conditions.

The rock-cut temples at Ipsambul, in Nubia, are the oldest architectural works known. They are more than 4,000 years old.

Squeaking in shoes generally is caused by friction between the different layers of material which make the soles.

The word "hooch", to indicate liquor, is derived from the Alaskan Indian village of Hoochinoo, meaning "grizzly bear fort."

SELF DEFENSE

LONDON—(INS)—Both Herbert Stevens and his wife learned the art of self defense during World War II, but the wife apparently benefitted more. Stevens 39, sued his wife, Darraine, 30, for divorce on grounds of cruelty claiming she had beaten him and bit him. The Divorce Court Commissioner, Blanco White, denied the divorce with this statement: "If the husband suffered more in the matter than the wife, it merely shows that her army training was more efficient than his."

Strike Of 9,000 Employes Ordered At Syracuse, N. Y.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(INS)—The CIO International Union of Electrical Workers ordered a strike of 9,000 employees at the Electronic Park plant of the General Electric Co., effective at 4 p.m. (EDT) today.

President John Brady of Local 320 said 85½ per cent of the workers who voted on the strike authorization ten days ago approved the walkout.

The GE Electronics Park plant is a major center of the company's radio, television and radar work.

The strike was called to enforce union demands for a ten cent hourly wage hike and other benefits and recognition of the right-wing union as bargaining agent.

Conferences On Rearmament Are Scheduled

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Secretary of State Acheson today awaited arrival of his ambassador to London and his high commissioner to western Germany for conferences looking to immediate and extensive rearmament of Europe, including Germany.

Even as Ambassador Lewis Douglas and Commissioner John J. McCloy flew in for consultation, the state department showed plain irritation over charges of Sen. Taft (R) O., that the administration suffered a "complete lack of both plans and policy" on this score.

Acheson declared that the administration was well equipped dilpomatically to meet the communist threat. Qualified department spokesmen pointed out that the problem of rearming Europe immediately, rather than in four or five years, has been under urgent discussion for weeks.

The secretary indicated final decisions, including that of a unified command, would be made in New York in mid-September when first the big three foreign ministers, and then all of the Atlantic defense pact foreign ministers meet.

Douglas and McCloy were called home for advance talks in view of the delicate European political situations—particularly insofar as partial rearmament of western Germany is concerned.

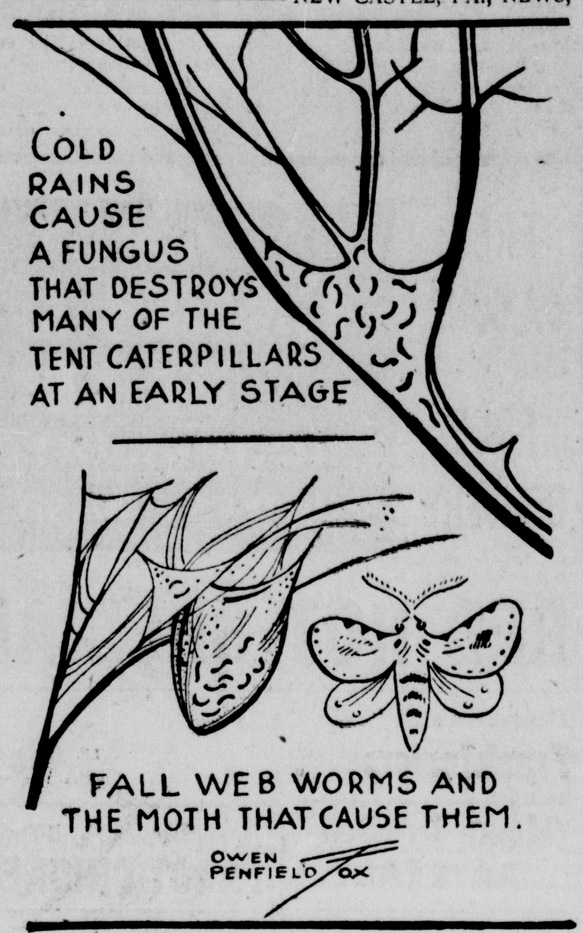
OIL BLAZE

CHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 31—(INS)—Thick, black smoke clouds covered most of Charleroi yesterday until firemen were able to bring under control an oil blaze which caused $15,000 damages at the H & B Chevrolet Company garage.



During the early summer there was a noticable absence of the Tent Caterpillars, and so far at this late date the Fall Web worm has not been very prevalent, this is due to the amount of rain fall this season, at the time these pests were hatching.

When the days are warm in early spring, and the sun is bright, the tent caterpillars sally forth from their tents on a march of destruction, eating up the young leaves on the trees and shrubs. On dreary mornings they stay in their tents, all balled up not venturing forth. But if the rains are heavy at this time, a fungus forms among the worms that soon causes their death. One way that nature has to do away with pests.

This also happens to the Fall Web worm when the rains are heavy when the young worms are hatched.

Lawrence County Photographic Society members enjoyed a trip to Lake Erie on Sunday, August 27. Picture taking, swimming and picnicing were the pleasant diversions of the event. Photographs were taken of Sherry Plonka, a student of the local senior high school and a future model.

The next meeting will be held Friday, September 1 at Jones Studio, East Washington street. The program committee has scheduled a film on "Camera Magic" and several other films.

Three Teen-Agers In Attempt To Escape Allegheny County Jail

PITTSBURGH, August 31, —(INS)—Three teen aged prisoners failed last night in an attempt to escape the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh.

The trio was trapped on the jail roof by more than 100 searchers, who include city policemen and detectives, firemen, county detectives and jail guards, three hours after their absence was discovered during a routine cell check.

Warden Charles Dye said the three youths had made their way to the roof through an air vent and were discovered by guards who heard their footsteps.

YWCA Sends Clothes To Germany; Receives Thank-You Letter

Last fall a number of the members of the local chapter of the YWCA undertook a project to send clothing to Europe. The project was under the sponsorship of the World Fellowship organization and under the chairmanship of Mrs. G. G. Horchler. Clothes were brought in from time to time and were finally sent about the first of this year.

Just recently the YWCA received the following letter from Berlin, Germany:

Berlin-Nuekolln,
Schierker Strasse 51

Dear Friends:

We have received your gifts and thank you very much indeed for your tremendous help. We turned it over to the Thrift Shop of the Neighborhood House for the self-help project which they carry on in the neighborhood. The Thrift shop is managed entirely by volunteers.

Instead of distributing the clothing as charity it was decided it would be better for the families to help in some way in return for what they received. If they cannot pay in money they are encouraged to come in and help either in the sewing work shop or in the carpentry shop where the clothing and furniture are put in shape for use. If the family has no time and prefers to help by giving money, it was agreed upon a fair amount in exchange for the garments they receive. In this way we are able to manage the house work for the whole 15-room barrack with only one full-time housekeeper who is assisted by voluntary participants in the Thrift shop plan.

We trust you will know how deeply appreciated is all that you have done. We hope that we may carry your spirit further through the messages which every gift brings to this harassed nation.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) Christine von Heim

V.F.W. Convention May Name Officers At Session Today

CHICAGO, Aug. 31. — (INS) — Delegates who adopted resolutions asking for the firing of Secretary of State Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson turned to more routine matters today at the Veterans of Foreign Wars National encampment in Chicago.

Two or three hundred other resolutions awaited their pleasure along with possible revision of their by-laws and election of new officers.

The delegates hoped to get around to the election of officers later today. Choosing the new commander-in-chief will be a simple matter. By tradition, Senior Vice Commander-in-chief Charles C. Ralls, 46-year-old Seattle attorney, will succeed Clyde A. Lewis of Plattsburg, N. Y., in the top post.

Lewis sparked opposition to Acheson and Johnson which led yesterday to adoption of resolutions asking President Truman to "appoint new, patriotic and able persons" in the State department and for "new and competent leadership" in the Defense department.

The measures did not call Acheson and Johnson by name but delegates who argued from the floor were not as polite.

Only five of the 3,500 delegates present voted against the resolutions.

One of the last measures adopted at yesterday's long and stormy session was one putting the veterans' organization on record in opposition to any form of world government "involving diminution of our national sovereignty".

Explains U. S. Economic Plan

American Way Of Life Held Greatest

In an illustrated talk, given before the New Castle Kiwanis club Wednesday noon, Clarence M. England, Kiwanian, told his fellow club members some of the things which have brought the United States to the forefront as the greatest nation on the face of the earth. He emphasized the fact that these things must be preserved or we will fall into the misery and squalor which grips most of the other countries.

Mr. England, in his discussion of the American economic system, presented facts which have been gathered as the result of a study of this system, telling where people of this country came from, how we developed our great economic system and of the distribution of the profits of this economic system.

Possess Most Luxuries

America, he pointed out, with one-fifteenth of the world's population, and one-sixteenth of its land area, possesses the highest economic system on the face of the earth, which other envious and jealous countries, whose systems have been a failure, would seek to destroy.

Americans, he stated, under the American economic system, own three-fourths of all the automobiles in the world; over one-half of the world's telephones; one-half of the world's radios. They consume one-half of the world's coffee; two thirds of the world's oil and two-thirds of the world's silk.

America in the short space of years following its creation, has gone farther than all the other nations of the world during a period of 6,000 years. This has been the result of the right and privilege of being able to work for themselves. Americans have individual freedom with no meddling or oppression from its government. In fact, the American people, when it founded this country, declared in its Bill of Rights just how far the the government could go in its control of their freedom.

Better Living Conditions

America has far better housing than any other nation, in spite of the present housing shortage. Americans eat twice as good as the people of the next comparable nation, England; and seven times as good as the people of Russia, he pointed out.

From the profits of one month of labor, Americans can buy four suits of clothes, the Russian only one-half a suit. The Americans consume six quarts of milk to one-third of a quart for the Russian.

Americans earn approximately $10 for eight hours of work. In England people earn only two and a half dollars and Russians only one dollar.

In human values we have improved our diet. Statistics show that lack of proper food is the principal cause for early death. Americans live longer and infant mortality has been greatly reduced in the last half a century.

People are better educated in this country and buy more security for their old age. In America this averages $1,293 per person. Insurance for one's old age is unknown in Russia.

As a result, he stated in conclusion, Americans live the richest life, the healthiest life and are better educated.

Socialism, which has proved a dismal failure in England, is beginning to make inroads in this country, which will only be to the detriment of its poorer class of people, in spite of everything they have been led to believe to the contrary.

Americans have fought three wars in recent years to prevent our country from being controlled from without, but are blind to the efforts being made to control us from within.

Connie Looking To 1951 Season

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31. — (INS)—Connie Mack declared emphatically today that he "will manage the Athletics next season."

The 87-year-old manager of the Philadelphia A's quashed rumors to the contrary by insisting "I have no intention of retiring."

The venerable Connie, his golden jubilee celebration as pilot of the A's darkened by his team's poor showing this year, kept mum however on the future status of Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Dykes.

When asked whether Cochrane and Dykes will retain their general manager and assistant manager posts respectively next year, Mr. Baseball replied:

"I can't say anything about that now."

EMERGENCY AT SEA

—Acme Telephoto

NEW YORK, N. Y.—After an emergency flight aboard a Coast Guard PBM flying boat (background), which began 900 miles from here Greek Merchant Marine Assistant Engineer Epaminondas Kamitsis is carried ashore to a waiting helicopter at Floyd Bennett Field. The helicopter then rushed him to the U. S. Marine hospital, landing on the hospital's lawn nine minutes after beginning the flight. Kamitsis suffered a ruptured ulcer of appendics aboard his ship, the Greek freighter SS Egor, and was picked up by the Coast Guard Cutter Casco, which radioed aid. The entire Coast Guard mission took less than 24 hours.

GALLANTRY

DONCHESTER — (INS) — The cost of gallantry runs high in Doncaster. John Rose, 28, was commended by the Doncaster magistrate for coming to the aid of a 20-year-old girl who complained she was being followed. But he was fined $8.40 for assaulting the man who followed her.

FARMER DRIVING

AKRON, O. — (INS)—Farmers' driving habits have changed considerably during the past decade. According to the B. F. Goodrich Company, the average American farmer now drives his tractor more on hard surface roads than ever before. The rubber company explained that "custom farming"—farming done under contract to land owners who do not have mechanized equipment—is becoming increasingly popular. This means custom farmers have to drive their tractors and other vehicles over considerable distances of highway while traveling from job to job.

AUTO SKIDS INTO BUILDING NEAR MORAVIA

When that immovable object meets the irresistible force, pictured here is the probable outcome. An automobile driven by Dominich J. Demarco, 411 West Cherry street, collapsed a cement block building at the junction of the West Pittsburg-Moravia road on route 18, Wednesday evening. The building was a gasoline station owned by Thomas Perry of Moravia. According to a statement by Demarco, he was traveling toward Wampum on route 18 when he saw a school bus traveling toward him. His auto began to skid when he attempted to get out of the path of the bus. His auto struck a ditch and plunged into the building. Mr. Demarco received a laceration above the right eye and considerable damage was done to the automobile.

The largest Douglas fir tree felled produced more than 11,000 cubic feet of plywood, enough for more than 50 five-room houses.

In early Christian Britain and northern Europe it was the custom to bury the dead with heads pointing west.

Marshall Plan Increase Urged

Wisdom Of Plan Proven—Hoffman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Economic Cooperation Administration Wednesday urged more, rather than less, Marshall Plan spending in the future to counter the Communist threat throughout the world.

ECA Administrator, Paul Hoffman, declared that the Korean war has proven the wisdom of Marshall plan spending.

Hoffman said that the start of European aid two years ago "is going to prove of great historical importance." Already as a result of ERP, he asserted, nations of the Western world have been brought together in a manner unprecedented in history.

The administrator warned, however, that the creation of a sound economic base in Europe must not be permitted to deteriorate through program cuts.

Hoffman Speaks

Hoffman made known his views on the foreign aid situation in an interview following his return to work after a two-month illnes.

The administrator noted with alarm that "too many people" want to cut foreign aid in view of increased military spending.

He commented:

"The only way to meet the Communist threat is not to step down the program. It must be stepped-up everywhere. We must speed up the program without additional costs."

Spanish Loan

Hoffman also said that a $62,500,00 loan to Spain will have to fit into overall European recovery plans.

No decisions have been made yet at ECA on the loan. ECA will wait, he said, on an order from President Truman and a formal request for the loan from the Spanish government.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Records, it seems, are made to be broken—even in Hollywood.

Joyce Holden, the 19-year-old "snow blonde" lovely on the Universal-International lot, is the latest record-breaker — this time for prowess in the kissing department.

Joyce is cast as one of the romantic leads in "Air Cadet." The studio had eight handsome gents on tap to play opposite her. The powers that be wanted the actor to be a romancer second to none so a kissing contest was held.

Breaks Kissing Record

Joyce bussed the eight men 602 times by actual count.

Hollywood's first bussing record was set fourteen years ago by Andrea Leeds when she was kissed 437 times by four young actors during a single day of screen testing them for a role opposite her.

Andrea held the title of "the most-kissed lady in the movies" until red-haired, 18-year-old Pipe Laurie came along and last Feb. 1 was kissed exactly 524 times by a quintet of youthful male aspirants to the role of her boy friend in the comedy, "Louisa."

Outcome of all the latest screen testing was that Dick Long got the part opposite Joyce. The judges decided that Dick was a bussing expert. He planted 75 kisses on Joyce's delectable lips for the role.

Wins Lipstick

Producer Aaron Rosenberg who kept score on the most recent osculatory marathon, presented Joyce with a solid gold lipstick as compensation for her rigors when the ordeal was over.

The wilted, bruised Miss Holden, remarked, while her lips were being treated with camphor ice by a studio nurse:

"Kissless brides don't know how lucky they are!"

WANDERLUST

Twentieth Century-Fox film players are packing their bags for global jaunts these days.

Latest to join the hegira to foreign climes is Peter Lawford and newcomer Richard Boone who head for Australia next month to emote in "Kangaroo."

Every foot of the film is to be shot in Australia, particularly in the scenically breathtaking Flinders range country.

The Australians have long insisted that their country has been neglected by Hollywood's color cameras. A few reels of Australia's amazing scenery convinced Darryl Zanuck that the people down under had something.

While "Kangaroo" is being shot in Australia, Fox will have Gary Merrill and others working in "The Legion of the Damned" in Munich, "No Highway" in London and "Way of a Gaucho" in Argentina.

U. S. Plans To End Tariff Concessions Given To China

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(INS)—The United States today announced its intention to end certain tariff concessions negotiated with China in 1947.

The State Department announcement came as a consequence of the withdrawal of Nationalist China, general agreement on tariffs and trade drawn up at Geneva.

The Nationalists' withdrawal was inspired by the fact that they no longer had control over trade with the Chinese mainland. Similarly, the United States has virtually no effective May 6, 1950, from the trade, either with the Nationalists, or with the Chinese Communists.

Specific items on which concessions are to be withdrawn, together with new rates of duty, will be published by the State Department shortly. The new rates of duty will go into effect 30 days after issuance of a Presidential proclamation.

Farm Roundup

Against Wild Planting Spree

Federal Farm Officials Urging Caution On Farms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS) Federal farm officials are asking farmers not to "shoot the works" in a wild agricultural planting spree in view of the Korean war.

These officials urge caution. They warn that this is not the time for pushing aside conservation measures and good planting practices. On the other hand, they are asking for more strict adherance to such practices.

They point out that food stocks on hand and production prospects indicate "quite adequate" supplies for normal consumption for at least the next six to nine months.

The Agriculture department wants farmers to build up soil reserves now—rather than use them up wildly. And, instead of putting off until spring some work that can be done now, officials urge they be done now. Especially should they be done now, they say, if they require the use of machinery consuming gas and oil. They indicate that if the world situation gets worse, it may not be possible to do some of the things that are planned for next spring.

In other words, Federal farm officials want farmers to think and plan with a wary eye out to the international situation.

The agriculture department, meanwhile, reports that U.S. rice exports are increasing. They totaled 610,000 hundred pound bags during June.

The bureau of agricultural economics reports that liquid egg production amounted to almost 58 million pounds during July, compared with 42 million pounds July a year ago and the past four-year average of 74 million pounds.

Dried egg production totaled 11 million pounds, compared with almost seven million pounds in July 1949 and the four-year average of 14 million.

Biologists To Study Effects Of Radiation

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., August 31.—(INS)—Nearly 100 of the western world's prominent biologists will open an international congress at Cooperstown Friday with special emphasis on a study of cells damaged by radiation.

The two-day congress will climax a tissue culture course at the city's Mary Imogene Bassett hospital. The course was designed to teach the preservation of cell life for study in medical and biological laboratories.

Specialists who will attend the congress include scientists from England, France, Holland, Italy, Canada, Brazil, Argentina and other foreign nations.

Cell Research

Sessions will be devoted to scientific papers dealing with cell research and a series of laboratory demonstrations by U. S. authorities.

The exhibits will include employment of radio-active isotopes, electron miscroscopy, special optical methods and the latest procedures in tissue culture.

Both normal and malignant body cells will be studied by the biologists.

One of the major goals of the congress will be the study of radioactivity on body cells and possible means of repairing them.

The study of atomic-bomb damage to humans is a prime target in the field of biological research.

Folks Of Fame

According to the most recent authorities, this Dutch painter Franz Hale was born in Antwerp in 1580 or 1581. As a portrait painter he was second only to Rembrandt in Holland. He produced some of his most striking works during a period of bankruptcy, and his pictures illustrate the various strata of society into which his misfortunes led him. For two centuries after his death, he was held in such poor esteem that some of his paintings, which now are among the proudest possessions of public galleries, were sold for small sums. He died at Haarlem in 1666.

Born Nov. 13, 1850, in Edinburgh, this British essayist, novelist and poet Robert Louis Stevenson was an only child. He suffered from infancy from fragility of health. He crossed the Atlantic in 1879 to marry, in May, 1880, a Mrs. Osbourne in California. Some of his most poignant and enchanting letters were written in a desolate California mining camp before he took his wife and step-son back to Edinburgh. He took his mother, wife and step-son to New York in 1887 and never set foot in Europe again. The last four years of his unquiet life were spent in Samoa. He died Dec. 3, 1894, and was buried at the summit of the peak of Vaea, with the Pacific ocean at his feet.

PETER BECAME A MAN OF POWER

HE CONVERTED THOUSANDS TO CHRIST

Scripture—Matthew 16:13-17; Luke 22:54-62; John 21:15-17; Acts 2-5.

St. Peter

"We must obey God rather than men."—Acts 5:29.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Peter is, in this writer's mind, a most interesting and human character. He was a devout, well-meaning person, devoted to his Lord, dedicated to His work, but, like most of us, when it came to the test, he was not willing to suffer with his Master.

In fact, when Jesus was arrested and being tried for His life, Peter played the coward, and denied that he knew Him.

That was a great tragedy, and Peter himself was broken-hearted when, after three times denying that he even knew the Master, he heard the cock crow—as Jesus said he would—and the Master gave him one look ere he was led away.

He uttered no word of rebuke or condemnation, for Jesus knew His man. He understood His disciple so well that He could have faith that from this moment of guilt and degradation, he would rise to new heights.

How many of us, faced with Peter's situation, would have been true to our best? We all have fallen down in less severe crises than this one. To have acknowledged that he was a disciple of Jesus would probably have meant death.

Peter could not face this, so he lied—even as you and I—but how nobly he redeemed himself we shall see as this lesson progresses.

It had been but a short time before this that Jesus had asked the disciples what people said about them, and after receiving various answers, had asked them, "Whom say ye that I am?" Peter—the ever-ready talker—had answered fervently, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God", and had received Jesus' commendation.

The third time Jesus appeared to His disciples after His Resurrection, He turned to Peter and asked him if the loved Him. Peter, of course, said yes, and Jesus said, "Feed My lambs."

Twice more Jesus asked the same question, getting the same reply, and the Master said to him, "Feed My sheep." Peter thus knew he was indeed dedicated to head Christ's work on earth.

On the day of Pentecost, Peter with the other disciples, received the power to perform miracles and to speak with power and authority, words which were to convert thousands to the faith.

We need not describe this scene which has been included in many lessons—the "rushing, mighty wind" that filled the house, the cloven tongues of flame which sat on each one.

It was Peter, with John, who performed the first miracle after Jesus left them. The two went to the temple to pray, and at the gate called Beautiful, saw a man who had been lame from birth so that he had become a beggar.

He asked alms, but Peter and John had no money, and Peter said to him, "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee; In the name of Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk."

To the amazement of everyone there, the man actually rose, and not only walked, but leaped, and bounded into the temple to thank God for his healing.

"All the people" saw the man, and doubtless told those who had not been present, and word of it came to the temple authorities, and they had the two disciples brought before them. Peter was not afraid of martyrdom then. He glorified in his chance to tell of Christ and His Message.

Talking before the high priests and their kindred, he freely admitted the performance of the miracle (which none could deny, as the man was with the disciples), and the church authorities decided it was best to let them go, cautioning them that they should preach no more, and threatening them.

After this many miracles were performed and multitudes were added to the Lord. Peter and John were imprisoned by the church rulers, but an earthquake opened their prison and they went straightway to the temple and preached again.

Brought before the temple rulers again, they were asked why they persisted in doing what was forbidden, and Peter and the other apostles answered, "We must obey God rather than men," and that was that, until Peter at last was martyred—a truly great man.

Hydraulic System On Plane Fails

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31. — (INS) — Twenty-three passengers and the crew escaped injury when an airliner made a 115-miles-an-hour landing last night at the Philadelphia International Airport after its hydraulic system failed.

Capt. Gordon Pierce, pilot of the twin-engined American Airlines Convair, said that without hydraulic pressure he was unable to lower the wing flaps and reduce landing speed. The brakes and ground steering also could not operate, he said.

The plane came down gently and then the pilot threw the propellers into reverse to stop it. The plane was bound for New York from Indianapolis but was detoured by fog to Philadelphia.

SARONG SAFETY

LONDON. — (INS)—A 30-year-old Fiji Island woman who ripped off her sarong and used it to save a man has been awarded the British Empire medal. Maria Wati was accompanying two Britons on a fishing trip five miles off Tavua, Fiji, when a gale forced their launch against a reef and wrecked it. Maria took-off her "sulu" (sarong) and led one of the men to safety along the rocks. The other made it alone.

Don't Be Satisfied With Symptomatic Relief!

RELIEVE THE REAL CAUSE OF YOUR STOMACH DISTRESS

Indigestion, Gas Pains, Heartburn, Bloating when Due to Vitamin B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin Deficiencies

ONE OF THE GREATEST BLESSINGS OF THE TIMES!

Here is some wonderful news for you folks who suffer so from stomach disturbances (indigestion, gas, heartburn, sour 'risings' in your throat after meals) because your system lacks the important Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin.

Now—thanks to the great new HADACOL — you can actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of such stomach disturbances caused by these deficiencies. A marked improvement is often noticed within a few days' time. And continued use of HADACOL not only gives continuous, complete relief but helps prevent such distress from coming back. That's the kind of product you want — the kind you should buy — the kind you should start taking immediately.

Anyone would be very foolish indeed to be satisfied with symptomatic relief, when HADACOL now makes it possible to relieve the VERY CAUSE of this stomach distress due to such deficiencies — know the joy of eating the foods you like without belching and suffering gas pains, heartburn and torturing indigestion afterwards!

How HADACOL Works ...

HADACOL not only supplies weak, run-down, deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B_1, B_2, Iron and Niacin but also beneficial amounts of precious Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—so vital to help maintain good health.

And these Vitamins and Minerals come in special liquid form so that they can be more easily and quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood—ready to go right to work at once. HADACOL even reinforces your red blood cells (when iron is needed) to carry these healthful elements to every organ in your body — to the kidneys, lungs, liver and heart.

Start taking HADACOL at once. HADACOL costs only a small amount a day. Trial-size bottle, $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Sold on a strict money-back guarantee.

Just a Few of Thousands of Folks With Such Deficiencies Who Have Been Helped!

Tess Ehman, advertising clerk of 1202 Main Street, Cincinnati, Ohio: "I had a nervous stomach. Fried foods, radishes, and other gas-forming foods didn't agree with me. I had no appetite. Indigestion was a chronic worry and bother. Now I have a wonderful appetite. And I eat anything I want to with no fear of indigestion or gas. I owe it all to HADACOL."

Bethel G. Jones, Florida Power Corporation load dispatcher: "I've suffered from stomach distress for quite some time and spent thousands of dollars on medicine and X-rays. I had been reading about HADACOL in the newspapers. I started by buying a small bottle. I am now on my fourth large bottle, and HADACOL has relieved me tremendously. I noticed the difference in the way I felt after a few days. I can't praise HADACOL enough for what it has done for me."

Mr. James Keelan, Jr., 5565 Labadie Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri: "Recently I'd been troubled with heartburn and indigestion. Since taking HADACOL, I no longer suffer heartburn and now I can eat anything without ever suffering after-meal distress. I've recommended it to a number of my fellow-workers."

W. E. Howworth, a skilled maintenance man in Waco, Texas, says: "I almost had to give up my job because of suffering stomach distress. I couldn't hold my food, as no food agreed with me. After completing a second bottle of HADACOL, I began to feel better and I suffered no more indigestion. I now take HADACOL regularly to help stay well."

Pretty Mrs. Alma Kincaid, 2626 East Adelaide Street, St. Louis, Missouri, told us this: "I want you to know how much better I feel since I've taken HADACOL. I've had stomach distress for quite a while. But nothing did me any good. They just said I had a nervous stomach. This is my second bottle of HADACOL and I really feel fine. I'm not nervous; I never feel tired. I can eat anything I want to."

Mrs. Hilton Shuff, Rt. 1, Box 49, Ville Platte, La.: "At night I couldn't rest and no matter what I ate, it didn't agree with me. Then my sister told me about HADACOL. I took her advice. I felt better after the third bottle. So far I've taken 15 bottles of HADACOL. I eat anything I want to, I sleep well every night, and my housework doesn't take me a bit."

Yankees Take American League Leadership, Defeat Indians Twice

Tigers Split With Senators; Phillies Top Cards, Pad Lead

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—Pitching, old pros and Doctor Stengel's magic elixer.

Of such things are pennant dreams compounded, and the New York Yankees are dreaming with their eyes wide open today — dreaming from the lofty eminence of first place in the American League.

The Yankees hurdled the prostrate forms of the Detroit Tigers yesterday to claim the lead, and now they frankly envision their second straight pennant and world championship.

Yanks Take Two

They beat the Indians, 4 to 3 and 3 to 0, yesterday and went a full game ahead of the staggering Tigers, who split with the fifth-place Washington Senators.

Today a single game will be played between the Yanks and Indians. Desperate Lou Boudreau nominated Bob Lemon (20-7) for pitchhing chores against Allie Reynolds (12-11).

Meanwhile, Detroit blew the first game to Washington, 3 to 2, when Sam Dente singled home the winning run off Freddie Hutchinson in the 11th inning. Sandalio Consuegra was the winner. In the nightcap, the Tigers blew a 7-to-2 lead, fell behind and finally won, 10 to 8, with a three-run rally in the ninth.

Red Sox Are Threat

The Boston Red Sox looked like a greater threat to the Yankees, but they, like the Yanks have yet to make their final western swing, during which both the Tigers and Indians will be at home.

The Red Sox took undisputed possession of third place yesterday by drubbing the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 1, while the Indians were taking their double defeat.

The St. Louis Browns beat Philadelphia twice, 2 to 1 and 7 to 6. The nightcap went ten innings.

Phils Pad Lead

In the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies boosted their lead to six and one-half games. They toppled the St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 8, in a grim struggle in which they had to come from behind twice. The winning pitcher: Jim Konstanty, of course.

The second-place Brooklyn Dodgers lost to the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5. The Boston Braves downed Cincinnati, 9 to 4.

Sal Maglie of the New York Giants shut out Pittsburgh, 4 to 0.

Martin Defeats Tony Gurneal

Doug Martin of Youngstown, decisioned Tony Gurneal of New Castle, in a three-round bout in the 155-pound class at the Veterans Boxing Show held at Farrell, Tuesday night. Martin had Gurneal in trouble in the third round when he connected with two hard rights, one to the face and another to the stomach to force the New Castle fighter to hold on. Martin was the aggressor most of the way.

Russo Leads Sharon Team To Victories In Bowling League

New Castle has as one of its citizens a man so modest that he didn't even bother to mention until today that he brought home more prizes from the 1949 bowling tournament in Sharon than any person had ever won before.

This man is Andrew Russo of R. D. 1 who stopped in to the News office before leaving for a California vacation. Andy is currently employed as a machinist for Westinghouse in Sharon.

Five Prizes

In last year's Sharon tournament Andy teamed up with Theresa DeMarco of Farrell to win the mixed doubles tournament with a total of 1220. Andy and Theresa recorded the high game in this tournament with a 431.

Andy then teamed up with P. White of Sharon and won the mixed men's tenpin doubles with 1185. Russo won the men's tenpin singles with a 632 total.

Teaming up with B. Bicek of Sharon in the men's duckpins doubles they won with a total of 1012 making the fifth prize of the tournament. Most number of prizes ever won before was three.

League Champions

This year Andy joined the Sharon league with Westinghouse and lead them to victory in both the first and second half of the tournament. Andy had a 216 tenpin average in league games and bowled the highest three games series (197) with duckpins.

If he does not transfer to the California branch of Westinghouse, Andy will be back again this year in the Sharon League.

RARE FUR COLOR

The Austrian phalanger is the only known animal with green fur.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

THERE ARE FEW good fighters nowadays, according to Charlie West of Ellwood City, who some years ago, handled Mike and Paul Kraynak and other amateur fighters in this district. In fact, West is of the opinion that, were the amateur fighters of yesteryear, or the days of the slump, active in the ring today, they would be able to defeat many of the pros', now collecting fat purses.

The fight game, in West's belief, is retrograding fast and he indicated this condition would continue until there is an absence of big money and youthdom turns to boxing to earn money.

As an evidence of how far back the fight game has receded, he pointed out that Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, has been rated one of the foremost 10 heavyweights in the land.

He remarked that Mike Kraynak captured an amateur middleweight tourney at Pittsburgh, and was a bit better than Paul. He said George Rocco, of Ellwood, was also good.

He extolled the late Ray Atkinson who made the supreme sacrifice in World War II and said Custy Morini was one of the most terrific punchers to fight in this section.

West recalled that Joie Evans was a very good fighter and said one of his fights was against Sammy Angott, who became lightweight champion, but who is now an ex-, but who yet is active.

Tony Adamo of Mahoningtown was mentioned as one of the best amateurs. He could hit like nobody's business while Benny Bartle, a free-swinger, took the measure of rough-house Mickie Rubin here.

OTHER AMATEURS of slump days and those who boxed in The Arena were recalled, following which he recited a humorous story concerning a promoter at Eldred, Pa.

"The promoter telephoned me to bring him the best middleweight I could find, a welterweight, a lightweight, and a mediocre featherweight," West said.

West added that the promoter stated he preferred "Paul Kraynak".

"Paul wasn't feeling good, so to keep all the matches, I took Mike, his better brother to Eldred.

After they weighed in their amateur cards were inspected, and then it was discovered Mike, and not Paul, was to box.

The promoter turned white and he said:

"This big colored fellow will do him harm. I wanted Paul."

"You told me to bring the best middleweight I ceuld, so I brought Mike," said West.

"If he puts up a good fight for three rounds, I'll give him $10 extra," said the promoter.

Mike, seated nearby, asked:

"What will you give if I knockout the colored boy?"

"I'll give you $20," the promoter replied.

"Start taking your money out of your pocketbook right now," Mike instructed the promoter.

Mike knocked out the colored husky in the second round and collected an extra $20, West added.

Senior Golfers Enjoy Day At Castle Hills, Banquet On Turkey, Award Prizes

Approximately 125 men attended the annual banquet of the Senior Golf Association at the First Presbyterian church last night.

Despite a cloudy day with intermittent showers a record crowd of some 140 golfers turned out at Castle Hills course to renew old acquaintences, make new ones, and see what they could do in a battle with old man par.

Frank Summers, president of the association, was toastmaster at the banquet. Mr. Summers introduced Dr. Robert Galbreath, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who gave the invocation.

Turkey Dinner

While the delicious turkey was being served, Morgan Jones led the group in song with Ermel Branstetter accompanying on the piano.

Immediately after dinner the group, whose only requirement is that the members must be at least 50 years old and pay $1 a year for dues, saw movies of last year's senior day. Charlie Ward presented the movies to the association and also took movies of all of the members attending the banquet to be shown next year.

Prizes Awarded

Tucker Hockman and Walt Vogan tied for low medal with a 75. Members of the association voted for a play off next week which Vogan is unable to do, so first prize was given to Hockman by the committee. Bill Watkins came in third with a 77, Lou Lautenslager fourth with a 78, and Mr. Raid, with a 79, came in fifth.

E. C. Jarrett had the longest drive on No. 1; Deegan was closest to the pin on No. 2; W. Powell was closest to the pin on No. 3 in the 65 years or older class; nearest to cup on second shot on No. 4 was Ches Sweezy; Karl Rohrer had the longest drive on No. 6; closest to cup on No. 7 was H. E. Zuber; closest to marker on No. 9 was J. E. Elliott; Ed Meyers was closest to the marker on No. 10; Charles Morrow was nearest to the cup on 11; C. E. Barber had the longest drive on No. 12 in the 70 years or older class; DeWoody was the closest to the pin on No. 13 on his second shot; Caughey was closest to the cup on No. 15 on the third shot; closest to the marker on No. 16 was Harry Buoll; Henry Broad was closest to No. 18 with his third shot; Bert Rice had the highest score with a 130.

More Prizes Awarded

Dr. Jesse Cooper was the oldest player in the tournament, and youngest was Dr. Sloan. Tom Riley had the greatest number of birdies with Mr. Pander coming in second. There were slips of paper on the course which the following brought in: E. M. Fisher, Bill Nunn, Joe Scareli, and R. R. Smith.

There were 29 winners in the blind boggie contest which was run by Paul Hunt.

The committee that worked untiringly to put the annual senior day over consisted of Frank Summers as president, Lou Lautenslager as first vice-president, Morgan Jones as second vice-president, Jack Dagnon as secretary, Larry Gramling as treasurer, W. I Clark, Ed. Fisher, William Nunn, Ray Smith, Walt Vogan, Tucker Hockman, Paul Hunt, Ben McCann, and Leo Ghles.

JB Wins, Universal And B. & O. Play Tie

JB Aluminum defeated the Business College 18-3 Wednesday evening at Deshon field in the second game of their playoff series in the Mercantile Softball league.

Third and deciding game of the series will be played Friday evening.

B. & O. and Universal played to their second straight tie at Gaston park 9-9. The two teams will try again tonight to reach a decision.

Struck With Mask Not Ball Says Ump

Umpire Ferucci, who umpired behind the plate in the Lawrence Indies-Universal game Tuesday evening, was struck with the catcher's mask and not the ball as was printed in Wednesday's News, Ferucci reports.

The throw had gone from the catcher to the shortstop and back to the catcher again. In his haste to catch the runner coming home the catcher threw off his mask and struck Ferucci above the left eye, necessitating four stitches.

Idle Senators Gain In Flag Race As Oil City Drops Pair At Erie

Rain last evening washed out the final game of the New Castle Senators-Niagara Falls three-game series, but in the course of the night's events, the idle Senators picked up a game in their pennant fight, with the Oil City Refiners dropping two games at Erie.

Tonight the Senators open a four-game stand at Butler, with a single game tonight, a twin-bill for Friday, and a single game Saturday. Oil City will play a twin-bill with Johnstown tonight at Oil City, and a single game Friday and Saturday. Oil City then comes to New Castle for a twin-bill Sunday, and a twin-bill Monday. Butler will have Johnstown as guests at Butler the final three games. Erie plays three at Youngstown starting tonight, and three at home Sunday and Monday with Niagara Falls.

Meeting Tonight In Butler

President Elmer Daily has called a 6 o'clock meeting in Butler tonight for all four teams that will make the playoffs. Nothing can be certain in this topsy-turvy Muddle-Atlantic league race until the final day perhaps. Oil City's twin loss at Erie last night further complicates the picture.

New Castle will be represented at Butler tonight by President Al Scarazzo, and "Bugs" Walther, News sports writer. Oil City, Butler, Erie will also have officials and press members present. The men will discuss the coming playoffs, as to dates, starting times, and various details.

Could Finish First

The Senators trailing Butler by only two games, have an excellent chance of finishing in second place, and are not yet counted out of the top finish, depending on what transpires the next eight games for all three clubs.

The idleness by rain last night gave the Senators pitching staff a much needed rest. Frank Wagner (11-6) will probably draw the assignment at Butler tonight. Zedalis (8-10) and Rossman (12-9) will go in the twin-bill Friday, with Churchill (14-8 slated for the Saturday game.

George Becka (13-8) and Joe Smoloko (2-5) will be available to face the tough hitting Oil City Refiners in the Sunday twin-bill here.

Mis-Fits Defeat Smashers Tuesday Become Elk Champs

Mis-Fits defeated the Smashers Tuesday evening at Castle Hills course 14½ to 5½ to annex the championship for the year in the Elks League.

Fred Palmer had a 35 on the front nine and Bob Watkins was close behind with a 37. Jim Chill and Ez Palmer tied with 39's on the back nine.

They are in the process of determining individual flight winner now which will take about two more weeks.

Joe Louis Opens Training Grind

Former Champion Now Weighs 218

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis said today he is in better condition than at any time since the war, but added he has no boxing plans beyond his Sept. 27, title fight with the NBA Champion Ezzard Charles.

"That will depend on how I train," said the erstwhile Brown Bomber, who came out of retirement for the fight with Charles in an effort to square a back tax debt with the government.

Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney, said that while the amount Louis owes in deductions that were disallowed for the years 1946 and 1947 is "a considerable sum," a good gate for the Charles Fight will enable Louis to get off the tax hook entirely.

Louis Weighs 218

Louis, who stopped in New York on his way to begin serious training at Pompton Lakes, N. J., said he weighs 218 pounds now and wants to weight 215 or 216 the night of the Charles fight at Yankee stadium.

He said Charles would not be the toughest opponent he ever had to fight, but he would not prophesy how the bout would go, saying that would depend on his progrses in training.

"That doesn't mean I don't think I'm going to win," Louis said. "It's just that I haven't decided yet how to fight him."

CITY DUCKPIN LEAGUE

City Duckpin league will have an organizational meeting tonight at Brincko's at 8 o'clock. All captains are urged to attend.

Great Dane Chain Tobacco Moocher

WILLOUGHBY, O.—(INS)—Motorists who stop at Elmer Steve's gas station in nearby Mentor, O., soon learn to hide their cigars, cigarettes and pipe tobacco.

Anyone foolish enough to light a cigarette had better keep a watchful eye out for Hercules, the 100-pound Great Dane who has switched from juicy bones to tobacco.

Hercules just has to have another cigarette, even if he has to take it out of someone's mouth. And he sometimes does.

The six-foot, four-inch long "puppy" keeps the floor of the station clean of cigarette butts and scoops cigar butts out of the ash trays when he isn't busy hounding the customers.

But Steve, his owner, isn't worried. A veterinarian told him tobacco is good for an affliction contracted by many dogs sometime during their lives—worms.

Exclusive Milk Diet Sufficient

ITHACA, N.Y.—(INS)—Research at Cornell's State Agricultural Experiment Station has discovered it is possible to support life from birth to old age on an exclusive diet of milk.

Experiments using white rats showed that these animals can live to ages comparable to 70 and 90 years in humans with no food other than cows' milk with a few necessary minerals added. The animals resemble men and women who have lived on borrowed time

Big Fines For Numbers Men

Two Are Given Jail Sentences By Judge

President Judge W. Walter Braham gave evidence in court Wednesday that numbers operators can expect no leniency at his hand, when he sentenced two to jail terms, in connection with $400 fines, which were meted out to six in all.

Benny Mays, alias Raymond Mays, who has had previous encounters with the law, drew a fine of $400 and costs, and six months in jail.

Charles Rucker, was also sentenced to pay a fine of $400 and costs and undergo five months in the county jail.

The other four who were before the court for sentence after entering pleas of guilt, were: Mabel L. Edmundson, Charlotte Shaughnessy, Frank R. Copple, and Leroy Lowe. They were all sentenced to pay fines of $400 and given three month jail terms, which were to be suspended for one year on payment of the fine and costs.

AFFIRMS DECISION

At a hearing conducted before President Judge W. Walter Braham Wednesday, the decision of Alderman James C. Brice, of the first ward, in fining Theodore Joseph and Guido Filagenzi $10 and costs, on a charge of disorderly conduct was affirmed.

An appeal from the alderman's sentence was taken by the defendants, who asserted that they were not disorderly. After hearing the testimony in the case, the judge stated that he felt there was some evidence of disorderly conduct, if not before the two had been ordered to move on by Officer John James, there was evidence that they had acted in a disorderly manner afterwards. They were arrested on Long avenue, on June 28, 1950.

The judge stated that the frequency with which these appeals are coming to the court prompted him to advise the offenders that they should have respect for the law, and also admonished the officers that the mere fact that they possessed a badge and club, did not entitle them to act in an arbitrary manner.

SEVENTY-FOUR REGISTER

Seventy-four voters were registered in the seventh ward, Tuesday, of which number 23 were Republicans and 51 were Democrats. The registrars will close their special registration days for the present this evening, in the office of Alderman Sam Bassano. They were sitting there yesterday.

Voters from any district are privileged to register there, Chief Clerk A. Lewis Conn pointed out, these special registration days being for any voter who so desires, and not merely for those of the fifth and eighth wards.

Says Congress Should Not Adjourn Until 30 Divisions Are Formed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Sen. Lodge (R) Mass., told the Senate today Congress should not adjourn until it has authorized an army of "at least 30 divisions and armed forces totalling at least three million men."

Lodge cited the Korean war and warned that "although we have had our Pearl Harbor, we are not yet awake."

He said that it is not fair to draft men for "the duration" when that period cannot be defined, or to take reservists and national guardsmen with World War II service without accelerating the training and induction of young men who have not seen combat.

Lodge declared:

"The just and realistic course would be to require universal military service under which every able-bodied young man serves for 18 months. There would then be units which are actually on a war footing manned quickly on a basis fair to all."
